

MEDIA CREATORS FOR REAL FUTURISTS

WHAT WE DO

At TExT-TUBE we specialize in writing and producing original and commissioned stories about the future – across multiple media. Typically, projects start with a futures workshop to map out and structure the vision of the future and select the most appropriate media. It could be a feature film, a futurementary, a television program such as our pilot for TExT-TUBE TV, an event such as f3 futures film festival, an e-book or graphic novel, a game or virtual world, a Design Fiction, or a futuristic music project.

OUR STORY

The TExT-TUBE concept emerged from academic work in Futures Studies, scenarios visualization and trans-media production by co-Founder Dr. David L Wright, former Associate Professor; Kosuke Mikawa (MA, Queensland University of Technology) a pioneering media and Futures Studies graduate from FUTURE UNIVERSITY HAKODATE, and online media producer/entrepreneur based in Shanghai; and Alex Goije, energy sector visionary, philanthropist and business champion. TExT-TUBE is uniquely the world's first dedicated futures media / concepts studio.

BENEFITS FOR YOU

We live in a media saturated world. Quality futuristic science fiction stories can change our world and our perceptions of the possible. Our mission is to bring a new level of story-telling intelligence and creativity to the craft of telling stories about our collective futures. In this post-COVID age, never has the need for better Futures Literacy been more vital.
