Thank you for being a climate ambassador. For helpful resources, check out the Climate Justice Coalition.

One of the things we need to change is our current economic system. We need to prioritize policies that prioritize equity and social justice. By holding the right people accountable and adopting more environmentally friendly practices, we can work towards a better future.

Climate change is an immediate and urgent issue. It's not too late to make a difference. Together, we can be part of the solution.

Climate change is human-caused. But there is no reason for guilt. We need to take action and work towards a sustainable future.
