

Seeks a dynamic and passionate EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Are you that unique and passionate person qualified to move the Ecoforestry Institute Society into our next chapter? We're looking for an individual who is fierce about protecting the environment, who can morph the Board's strategic direction into operational initiatives, who is a quick learner, agile, inclusive, and a great team player. This is your time to shine!

First, a word or two about us. We're a registered charitable society on the leading edge of a forestry model dedicated to the principles and practices of ecoforestry. We're the owners and trustees of Wildwood Ecoforest (84 acres) located south of Nanaimo, which we hold in trust for the people of British Columbia. There's more info here: <https://www.ecoforestry.ca/>

Ours is a diverse and hands-on Board, who, over the years, have pitched in and pulled together to get the work done. We hold precious the strong bonds we have with our Indigenous relatives and are proud of the Healing Canoe program now on site at Wildwood. Our Education Committee and team of naturalists work hard to bring engaging programs to thousands of school children and other visitors to Wildwood. Our restored Homestead continually attracts ecotourists from all over the world to experience the magic of the forest.

In other words, we have a great work environment that suits someone with strong leadership and organizational skills, and a varied lived experience that enables you to respectfully walk with us in Syeyutsus. There's bonus points if you live within range of Wildwood Ecoforest. And if you can suss out and write grants, we love you already.

This is a part-time 6-month contract position at $35/hr for up to 80 hours per month. Contract renewal is subject to negotiations and funding availability.
