The National Museum of Computing is following government instructions to educational establishments on this matter. This policy is based on government “Schools COVID-19 operational guidance (February 2022)”. We take the health and welfare of our visitors, staff and volunteers very seriously. Please visit our website, https://www.tnmoc.org/days-open. COVID-19 continues to be a virus that we learn to live with and the imperative to reduce the disruption to children and young people’s education remains.

Our priority is to deliver face to face high quality education to all pupils.

- Each school will have access to a dedicated meeting/classroom. School groups will not be mixed when participating in Activity Days
- The introductory session that previously included hands-on elements will be a ‘show and tell’ session lead by an education guide with students participating digitally using their own devices.
- Hand sanitiser stations are located throughout the museum. Visitors are encouraged to make use of these at regular intervals.
- Face coverings are no longer advised for pupils, staff, and visitors either in classrooms or in communal areas. Face mask wearing is expected and recommended in enclosed and crowded spaces where you may encounter people you don’t usually meet.

We continue to implement the government recommended control measures

- Ensuring good hygiene for everyone.
- Maintain appropriate cleaning regimes.
- Keep occupied spaces well ventilated
- Follow public health advice on testing, self-isolation and managing confirmed cases of COVID-19.

According to our standard terms and conditions you have up to 30 days before your visit to cancel without charge. If you need to postpone a visit due to COVID-19 after this period, you may do so subject to availability and agreement in writing from the Museum.
