Who We Are
Artistry is an independent 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization based in the city-owned Bloomington Center for the Arts. We produce arts experiences of exceptional quality in an accessible, welcoming setting, drawing a region-wide audience. Engaging “our region’s most talented artists in work that welcomes and develops audiences and opens hearts and minds.” is a key part of our mission. Toward that end, we provide opportunities for early-career artists to learn and grow, and for established artists to work in new ways.

What We Do
As a producer of theater, curator of exhibitions and related public programming, and facilitator of arts-based community development, Artistry has become a regional cultural asset serving more than 82,000 people per year.

Arts Education and Partnership Programs
We offer year-round classes and workshops at the Bloomington Center for the Arts and bring arts learning experiences to people of all ages and abilities at schools, senior centers, libraries, farmers markets, and shopping centers in Bloomington and beyond. All of our teachers are practicing artists with expertise in their media and an enthusiasm for nurturing creativity. The education program serves over 8,000 people.

Theater
From its modest beginnings in the mid-1950s, our theater program now engages the best directors, choreographers, designers, and other theater artists in the region. Artistry produces musicals with a large, critically-acclaimed pit orchestra and other works, including our 2017 Ivey Award-winning production of Wit. Our productions draw more than 30,500 theater-goers from across the Twin Cities metro.

Visual Arts
Artistry showcases the work of emerging and established artists from Minnesota and surrounding states. Each year, we curate 13+ exhibitions that span a wide continuum of media and subject matter in two galleries in the Bloomington Center for the Arts, often drawing more than 55,000 yearly visits. The galleries are open seven days a week and exhibitions are always free, making them accessible to a large and diverse audience. We offer a welcoming and friendly environment that encourages gallery visitors to explore and learn about artists and the creative process.

Public Art and Creative Placemaking
In 2013, we received a matching grant from the National Endowment for the Arts to launch a long-term initiative to work with the City of Bloomington and other partners to transform Bloomington's South Loop into a vibrant, distinctive neighborhood. In July 2015, the Bloomington City Council and Artistry Board of Directors adopted a Creative Placemaking in the South Loop plan to build on phase one momentum. Other public art projects include working with United Properties to facilitate a large exterior installation for the Fresh Thyme Market in Bloomington's Penn-American district.

Information about our organization and programming is listed on our website at www.artistrymn.org.

Job Description
Artistry seeks qualified Teaching Artists to teach on-site classes, workshops, and summer camps, and lead in-school residencies, after school classes, and one-day off-site workshops primarily in the visual art. Limited opportunities are available in other arts disciplines. Students range in age from pre-kindergarten to seniors (depending on the class, program, or community partner). Classes take place both on-site at the Bloomington Center for the Arts, and off-site at our community partner locations.

Teaching Artists must:
- Plan and teach developmental age-appropriate, arts classes
- Prepare lessons that include visual arts concepts
- Carry out class details specified in contract and program agreement
- Have classroom management skills
- Oversee the safe use of supplies, tools, and equipment during classes
- Have reliable transportation and arrive on time to class

Qualifications or Requirements
- Strong background in visual or performing arts
- Knowledge of and experience with diverse communities
- Must enjoy working with youth and/or adults from a wide range of cultural backgrounds
- Committed, dependable, organized, flexible, competent, and have the ability to adapt
- Able to handle classroom situations with fairness and patience
- Experience teaching in informal or formal atmosphere, preferably in the arts

Work Schedule
On-site camp, class, and workshop commitments vary from one-day to three to eight-week catalog classes as well as week-long day camps. Catalog classes and workshops as well as summer camps are scheduled several months in advance. Teaching artists may inquire at any time.

Outreach program hours vary depending on community partnership agreement. Multiple programs run throughout the day Monday through Saturday for youth, teens, and adults. Class hours usually fit between 9am-9pm. Some classes are held at the Bloomington Center for the Arts while most take place off-site at our community partner locations.
