We support carers

At Alfred Health Carer Services, we support people who care.

We provide information, support and respite for people who care for an older person, a person with dementia, a person with a mental illness or a person with a disability. We also offer carer education and peer support activities to support personal wellbeing.

A carer can be a spouse, partner, parent/s, child, guardian, sibling, friend or neighbour who supports another person by providing unpaid personal care, providing transport, attending medical appointments, organising medication, and/or regular cooking and shopping, among other activities.

We are committed to supporting carers, the people they support and the care relationship to provide holistic and sustainable care pathways.

Our services are available to people living in Port Phillip, Stonnington, Glen Eira, Bayside, Kingston, Greater Dandenong, Casey, Cardinia, Frankston and the Mornington Peninsula.

Call us on 1800 052 222* 24 hours a day, 7 days a week to find out how we can help you.

What carers say

“It can be hard caring for someone with a mental illness, so it’s really nice to know there is somewhere to turn to for help. The support services, brochures and workshops have been so helpful, and have given me some really good strategies to make sure I look after my own health and wellbeing.”

“I needed to go into hospital and I was worried about who would look after Dad. I called the 1800 number and the people I spoke to were fantastic. They organised respite for Dad and arranged for someone to check on him after I got out of hospital so I could focus on getting better.”

“I don’t know anyone else at school who cares for someone, so it was really nice to meet people my age who understand what it’s like. I really like the group activities and camps and have made some good friends.”
