Create a well around your plant to allow the water to infiltrate the soil around the rootball after the well is made.

Use the soil from the TOP of the hole to backfill around the rootball after the well is made.

Position the top of the rootball level with the native slope.

Planting detail for canyon hillsides