THIRTY-EIGHTH INTERNATIONAL SYMPOSIUM ON ECONOMIC CRIME

SUNDAY 5th SEPTEMBER - SUNDAY 12th SEPTEMBER 2021

JESUS COLLEGE, UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE

Economic crime – who pays and who should pay?

(Draft)
The 38th Cambridge International Symposium on Economic Crime

Economic Crime - who pays and who should pay?

The thirty-eighth international symposium on economic crime brings together, from across the globe a unique level and depth of expertise to address one of the biggest threats facing the stability and development of all our economies. The overarching theme for this year’s symposium focuses on who is actually harmed and pays for economically motivated crime and who should be held more accountable. The direct and especially the indirect costs, to us all, of economic and enterprise crime are considerable and impact profoundly on the more vulnerable. Our legal systems are not in the main successful in holding those who engage in or benefit by economic crime accountable. Indeed, crime does pay and often the measures we adopt to discourage it raise more issues than they answer. Possibly we need to place much more responsibility on those who are in a position, by virtue of what they do or where they are placed, to prevent and discourage abuse. These important and timely issues are considered in a practical, applied and relevant manner, by those who have real experience whether in law enforcement, regulation, compliance or simply protecting their own or another’s business.

The symposium albeit held in one of the world’s leading universities is not a talking shop for those with vested interests or a rarefied academic gathering. We strive to offer a rich and deep analysis of the real issues and in particular threats to our institutions and economies presented by economic crime and abuse. Well over 700 experts from around the world will share their experience and knowledge with other participants drawn from policy makers, law enforcement, compliance, regulation, business and the professions. The programme is drawn up with the support of a number of agencies and organisations across the globe and the Organising Institutions and principal sponsors greatly value this international commitment. In recent years the symposium has attracted well over 1,800 participants from over 100 countries.

In considering how to better discourage and control economic crime we examine the real threats facing our economies and in particular those who look after other people’s wealth not just from criminals and terrorists, but also indirectly as a result of law enforcement and regulatory intervention. We also context these risks and the responses not only in terms of the law, but also regulation and especially compliance practice. Therefore in every specialist panel or workshop there is an array of relevant practical experience and expertise.

As in previous symposia we do not focus on a single – no matter how important issue. Just spend a few minutes to look through the 38th Symposium programme - I am confident that you will be impressed by its depth, breadth, topicality and relevance. The symposium is not an ordinary conference. It was conceived to fulfill a very practical purpose - to promote understanding of the real issues in controlling economically motivated crime and facilitate co-operation and effective action, ideally preventive. Consequently, we make every effort to foster networking and promoting meaningful co-operation.

The Cambridge Symposium is organised on a non-profit making basis by some of the world’s most respected academic and research institutions with the active involvement and support of numerous governmental and inter-governmental bodies. Those who are concerned to protect and promote the integrity and wellbeing of their national economy, institution or enterprise – or who are concerned to better understand the risks facing business today, cannot afford to miss this very special event.

The above programme is confirmed, however, given the number of speakers and panellists there will be changes and a fully updated programme will be available on the website, www.crimesymposium.org
Workshops
Participation in the non-plenary workshops will be restricted so as to facilitate informal discussion on the basis of Chatham House Rules. Registration for workshops will be on a first come basis. The convenors for each workshop are indicated in the programme, but discussion will be open to all those participating.

Jesus College, Cambridge and the University of Cambridge
The Master and Fellows of Jesus College, within the University of Cambridge, have supported the symposium since its inception and Jesus College has been the venue for all programmes. The College was founded by Bishop Alcock of Ely in 1496, but the history of many of the College's buildings is much older. An order of nuns occupied the site and buildings for at least 250 years before the foundation of the College. The earliest record of the University of Cambridge is in 1209. The University, consisting of over 100 departments, faculties and schools, is rated as the world’s foremost research university. A number of the University’s centres and scholars are involved in the symposium programme.

The Centre for International Documentation on Organised and Economic Crime (CIDOEC)
CIDOEC is a non-profit making international network of scholars, researchers and practitioners concerned to foster understanding as to how better to prevent and interdict economically motivated crime.

National Economic Crime Centre (NECC)
The NECC coordinates and tasks the UK’s response to economic crime, harnessing intelligence and capabilities from across the public and private sectors including the Joint Money Laundering Intelligence Taskforce (JMLIT).

HM Treasury UK Government
HM Treasury is responsible, in the context of economic crime, for the coordination of the UK’s AML and CTF policy. Therefore it is responsible for the UK’s Money Laundering Regulations, the UK’s National Risk Assessment, appointing AML and CTC supervisors, leading the UK’s delegation to FATF and providing technical assistance to over 50 countries. Its Office of Financial Sanctions implements and enforces both international and domestic sanctions.
HM Revenue & Customs

The HMRC is responsible for the administration and enforcement of tax law in the UK. In ensuring a level playing field it targets the UK’s most harmful and powerful tax criminals and supports business in protecting themselves from money laundering in its role as an anti-money laundering supervisor.

National Crime Agency

The National Crime Agency leads, supports and coordinates the UK’s response to organised, serious and international crime.

The Metropolitan Police Service

The Metropolitan Police Service with a staff of over 43,000 policing the 620 square miles that London covers is the UK’s largest police force. Its headquarters are Scotland Yard

The Serious Fraud Office of England, Wales and Northern Ireland

The Serious Fraud Office is an independent government department, responsible for the investigation and prosecution of the top level of serious or complex fraud, bribery and corruption.

The Crown Prosecution Service

The Crown Prosecution Service (CPS) is the national prosecution service for England and Wales. It has a Specialist Fraud Division and three Area Fraud Centres which pursue the majority of economically relevant crimes in England and Wales. The CPS is headed by the Director of Public Prosecutions.

City of London Police

The City of London Police is the National Lead
