

THIRTY-EIGHTH INTERNATIONAL SYMPOSIUM ON ECONOMIC CRIME

SUNDAY 5th SEPTEMBER - SUNDAY 12th SEPTEMBER 2021

JESUS COLLEGE, UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE

Economic crime – who pays and who should pay?

The 38th Cambridge International Symposium on Economic Crime

Economic Crime - who pays and who should pay?

The thirty-eighth international symposium on economic crime brings together, from across the globe a unique level and depth of expertise to address one of the biggest threats facing the stability and development of all our economies. The overarching theme for this year's symposium focuses on who is actually harmed and pays for economically motivated crime and who should be held more accountable. The direct and especially the indirect costs, to us all, of economic and enterprise crime are considerable and impact profoundly on the more vulnerable. Our legal systems are not in the main successful in holding those who engage in or benefit by economic crime accountable. Indeed, crime does pay and often the measures we adopt to discourage it raise more issues than they answer. Possibly we need to place much more responsibility on those who are in a position, by virtue of what they do or where they are placed, to prevent and discourage abuse. These important and timely issues are considered in a practical, applied and relevant manner, by those who have real experience whether in law enforcement, regulation, compliance or simply protecting their own or another's business.

The symposium albeit held in one of the world's leading universities is not a talking shop for those with vested interests or a rarefied academic gathering. We strive to offer a rich and deep analysis of the real issues and in particular threats to our institutions and economies presented by economic crime and abuse. A great number of experts from around the world will share their experience and knowledge with other participants drawn from policy makers, law enforcement, compliance, regulation, business and the professions. The programme is drawn up with the support of a number of agencies and organisations across the globe and the Organising Institutions and principal sponsors greatly value this international commitment. In recent years the symposium has attracted well over 1,800 participants from over 100 countries. Of course, in the context of the pandemic we anticipate this year the number physically attending the symposium will much smaller.

In considering how to better discourage and control economic crime we examine the real threats facing our economies and in particular those who look after other people's wealth not just from criminals and terrorists, but also indirectly as a result of law enforcement and regulatory intervention. We also context these risks and the responses not only in terms of the law, but also regulation and especially compliance practice. Therefore in every specialist panel or workshop there is an array of relevant practical experience and expertise.

As in previous symposia we do not focus on a single – no matter how important issue. Just spend a few minutes to look through the 38th Symposium programme - I am confident that you will be impressed by its depth, breadth, topicality and relevance. The symposium is not an ordinary conference. It was conceived to fulfil a very practical purpose - to promote understanding of the real issues in controlling economically motivated crime and facilitate co-operation and effective action, ideally preventive. Consequently, we make every effort to foster networking and promoting meaningful co-operation.

The Organising Committee is optimistic that all those referred to in the programme will be able to attend physically in Cambridge unless the contrary is indicated.

The Cambridge Symposium is organised on a non-profit making basis by some of the world's most respected academic and research institutions with the active involvement and support of numerous governmental and inter-governmental bodies. Those who are concerned to protect and promote the integrity and wellbeing of their national economy, institution or enterprise – or who are concerned to better understand the risks facing business today, cannot afford to miss this very special event.

Alternative Programme - Saturday 11th September 2021

under the auspices of the AML Training Institute and the Luminous Group, USA

The Summit is an invite only program for registered symposium attendees bringing together thought leaders globally to address the challenges of economic crime confronting virtual asset service providers, policymakers, law enforcement, technology providers and others working with distributed ledger technologies

08:00            Session 1: The challenges of the technology

This session will review the ever-changing landscape of cryptocurrencies and other crypto-assets, including non-fungible tokens (NFTs), and the evolving challenges they present to the law enforcement community and compliance professionals. What is Defi and why is it so uniquely challenging for law enforcement and compliance? What role do stablecoins play? And will Central Bank Digital Currencies take care of these problems?

10:15            Coffee

11:45            Session 2: Confronting reality: What can and should be regulated and by whom?

The unprecedented speed of technological development has set a blistering pace for law enforcement and regulators. How can law enforcement and regulators catch up, much less maintain the pace when the technology is often obsolete in weeks or even days. How are priorities set, how are funds allocated, how are peoples trained? What is the importance and role of international co-operation?

12:45            Lunch

14:00            Session 3: Technology to the rescue?

Is the technology itself the solution? For businesses and for law enforcement and regulators? What are the key technology solutions in use now, in development and on the horizon? Who should be paying for it? How can it be made accessible to all stakeholders?

16:00            Tea

16:30            Session 4: Who is paying and who should pay: Private sector initiatives

Roundtable discussion on different initiatives being undertaken by different private sector groups and individual companies to address the financial investigatory and compliance challenges of cryptocurrencies? Should the public and private sector work more closely together, if so how and can the cost be shared? Can the private sector be compensated for contributing cutting-edge investigatory work and investment in technology

19:00            Cocktails

19:30            Summit dinner to be addressed by a guest speaker

Jesus College, Cambridge and the University of Cambridge

The Master and Fellows of Jesus College, within the University of Cambridge, have supported the symposium since its inception and Jesus College has been the venue for all programmes. The College was founded by Bishop Alcock of Ely in 1496, but the history of many of the College's buildings is much older. An order of nuns occupied the site and buildings for at least 250 years before the foundation of the College. The earliest record of the University of Cambridge is in 1209. The University, consisting of over 100 departments, faculties and schools, is rated as the world's foremost research university. A number of the University's centres and scholars are involved in the symposium programme.

CIDOEC

The Centre for International Documentation on Organised and Economic Crime (CIDOEC)

CIDOEC is a non-profit making international network of scholars, researchers and practitioners concerned to foster understanding as to how better to prevent and interdict economically motivated crime.

National Economic Crime Centre (NECC)

The NECC coordinates and tasks the UK's response to economic crime, harnessing intelligence and capabilities from across the public and private sectors including the Joint Money Laundering Intelligence Taskforce (JMLIT)

HM Treasury UK Government

HM Treasury is responsible, in the context of economic crime, for the coordination of the UK's AML and CTF policy. Therefore it is responsible for the UK's Money Laundering Regulations, the UK's National Risk Assessment, appointing AML and CTC supervisors, leading the UK's delegation to FATF and providing technical assistance to over 50 countries. Its Office of Financial Sanctions implements and enforces both international and domestic sanctions.

HM Revenue & Customs

The HMRC is responsible for the administration and enforcement of tax law in the UK. In ensuring a level playing field it targets the UK's most harmful and powerful tax criminals and supports business in protecting themselves from money laundering in its role as an anti-money laundering supervisor.

National Crime Agency

The National Crime Agency leads, supports and coordinates the UK's response to organised, serious and international crime.

The Metropolitan Police Service

The Metropolitan Police Service with a staff of over 43,000 policing the 620 square miles that London covers is the UK's largest police force. Its headquarters are Scotland Yard

The Serious Fraud Office of England, Wales and Northern Ireland

The Serious Fraud Office is an independent government department, responsible for the investigation and prosecution of the top level of serious or complex fraud, bribery and corruption.

The Crown Prosecution Service

The Crown Prosecution Service (CPS) is the national prosecution service for England and Wales. It has a Specialist Fraud Division and three Area Fraud Centres which pursue the majority of economically relevant crimes in England and Wales. The CPS is headed by the Director of Public Prosecutions.

City of London Police

The City of London Police is the National Lead Force in the UK for fraud and fraud related crime.
