The Alliance for Clean Energy New York Welcomes 16 New Clean Energy Companies and Organizations as Members

ALBANY, NY (May 1, 2019) — The Alliance for Clean Energy New York (ACE NY) today announced that sixteen additional organizations have joined the Alliance in 2019. These new members include environmental organizations; educational institutions; wind, offshore wind, solar, hydro, and transmission developers; law firms; and clean energy consultants. By joining the Alliance these organization are joining the more than 60 organizations already supporting ACE NY’s effort to make the Empire State the national leader in clean energy deployment.

New ACE NY members in 2019 include: Ampersand Energy Partners; Audubon New York; Brown & Weinraub; CHA; ConnectGEN LLC; Cornell University; Dynamic Energy; EnBW North America Inc.; Integrated Environmental Data, LLC; Jordan Energy; Kruger Energy Inc.; oneGRID Corp.; Oriden; Tetra Tech; Valcour Wind; Vineyard Wind LLC. Please visit https://www.aceny.org/member-organizations for the full updated list.

Anne Reynolds, Executive Director of ACE NY stated, “ACE NY is elated to have these new members join us! These are companies ready to invest in New York, wind and solar developers ready to create jobs in New York, and organizations supporting New York’s great green energy transition. Our collective success will mean more jobs, energy diversity, economic development, and cleaner air for all New Yorkers.” She continued, “With this added strength, ACE will be better informed and ready to continue to fight for growth in renewable energy and energy efficiency.”

“Birds point us to the most pressing issues facing wildlife and people today, including the impacts from climate change. Audubon New York is pleased to join the Alliance for Clean Energy New York and its shared effort to reduce carbon pollution and make major investments in renewable energy—like responsibly-sited solar and wind power. We look forward to working together to achieve a cleaner and greener future for birds, people, and other wildlife,” said Ana Paula Tavares, Executive Director for Audubon New York.
“CHA’s vision is to responsibly improve the world we live in by providing sustainable solutions for our clients that enhance the built environment. We are thrilled to be a member of ACE NY and work with its member organizations and stakeholders to build a cleaner, more reliable, and more efficient energy future for New York,” said Erin Crotty, Senior Vice President, CHA.

“With a portfolio of clean energy projects under development in New York State, ConnectGEN is pleased to join the Alliance for Clean Energy New York. We look forward to working with ACE NY, and its diverse membership base, to advance Governor Cuomo’s monumental commitment to responsible development of clean energy resources,” said Caton Fenz, Chief Development Officer at ConnectGEN.

“Cornell aspires to power our Ithaca campus with 100% renewable energy. We’re encouraged that so many partners in NY share a similar vision. We look forward to collaborating with them through ACE NY on our path to an equitable clean energy future.” said Rick Burgess, Cornell University Vice President for facilities and campus services.

“Dynamic Energy is thrilled to be a new member of the Alliance for Clean Energy New York, joining other companies at the forefront of renewable energy policy and deployment in New York,” said John Conley, Chief Commercial Officer at Dynamic Energy. “Governor Cuomo’s steady commitment to both distributed and large-scale solar development is crucial as we work with industry and policy makers to achieve the ambitious goals necessary to reduce the impacts of climate change and create thousands of new jobs throughout the state.”

“The Alliance for Clean Energy New York plays a crucial role in steering the way toward an affordable, renewable, clean energy future for the Empire State. EnBW North America is excited to join the Alliance as we look forward to helping to advance the Cuomo Administration’s historic commitment to responsible offshore wind development,” EnBW North America Managing Director Bill White said.

“Integrated Environmental Data, LLC is thrilled to be a part of the critical work that the Alliance for Clean Energy is doing to promote clean energy in our state,” said Kathleen Moore, President. “We are looking forward to becoming engaged with the diverse community represented by ACE NY.”

“Jordan Energy is delighted to join the Alliance for Clean Energy New York and their strong membership base of clean energy and environmental organizations,” said CEO Bill Jordan. “Meeting New York’s lofty goals requires all hands on deck and we have joined ACE NY to achieve greater success for our company and the solar industry as a whole in NYS.”

“oneGRID is happy to join the Alliance for Clean Energy New York as the State works towards its nation-leading clean energy goals,” said Zohrab Mawani, President of oneGRID. “With a unique membership base working towards a common goal, ACE NY helps provide insights to keep New York at the forefront of the clean energy movement. oneGRID’s Empire State Connector project is a 1,000 MW HVDC transmission line that provides physical delivery of clean energy from Upstate to NYC. The project supports the Governor’s mission and will enable clean energy and clean jobs within the state.”
“Oriden, an MHPS Venture, is enthusiastic about the advancing solar industry in New York State and looks forward to being a contributing member of the Alliance for Clean Energy New York,” said Mas Ogiso, Head of Development at Oriden. “The Alliance is uniquely positioned to support New York’s efforts to meet its ambitious renewable energy goals, while we work to provide much needed economic benefits across the state.”

“With a New York-based workforce of more than 500 professionals and a corporate lineage that can be traced back to Thomas Edison, Tetra Tech is excited to once again be part of ACE-NY and to continue our work with other member organizations to support the mission and build the energy infrastructure required to meet New York’s ambitious clean energy goals,” said Craig Wolfgang, Vice President of Energy Projects.
