The Value of an Education

🎓 Opportunity for Student to Grow
- College is an opportunity for your child to mature and learn how to become a responsible adult

🎓 Builds Skills
- Employers look for applicants who have a good, solid education, and who have good critical thinking skills

🎓 Increases Opportunities
- Better job opportunities and higher income

Ultimately, most employers are more concerned with an applicant’s skill set than with the title of the applicant’s degree

How Do Colleges Select Students?
How Do Colleges Choose Students?

Admissions officers review student files and make selections based on the standards and needs of the college.

They look at students who are:

- Qualified based on pure academics and scores
- Varied in terms of demographics and diversity
- Special Admits (legacy, athletes, special talent, etc.)
- Previously underrepresented students
The Well Rounded Student

🎓 Colleges look for students who will do well academically and contribute to campus life

🎓 Academics, extracurricular activities and community service/volunteer activities are all aspects of the student’s profile reviewed by the colleges
What Demographics Mean

🎓 Geographic Location: Colleges want their students to come from different areas

🎓 Colleges seek ethnically and racially diverse students

🎓 Colleges want students with different abilities and interests to complement their communities

- Not every college requires Subject Test scores
Extracurricular Activities

🎓 Colleges do not only look at grades!

Recommendations

Most colleges require at least TWO

These recommendations can come from:
- Teachers
- Advisors
- Counselors
- After School Program Directors

At least one should be from a teacher the student had in their Junior year or First semester of Senior Year.
Recommendations

🎓 Students should be aware that they will not have an opportunity to review their recommendations.

🎓 Recommendations are generally sent directly to the college, or returned to the student in a sealed envelope.

🎓 Teachers are not required to write positive remarks in recommendations (Choose Wisely!).
The Personal Statement

Appslicants need to submit an individual essay for each college they are applying to

- YES, even when applying with the Common Application

Why do applications require a personal statement?

- It helps distinguish you from the rest of the pool of applicants

Writing Process

- Students should write several drafts and request feedback from multiple sources

Support for the Personal Statement

- Review your child’s academic and personal strengths and weaknesses with him/her
Personal Statement Resources
