The September board meeting went really well. We were serenaded, and found our next facility. We also adopted two melodious new DreamMaker projects.

The Humboldt Ukulele Group (or HUG) say they don’t have a mission statement, but they want to share the joy of making music with as many people as they can by teaching and playing ukulele in the simplest manner possible. That sounds like a pretty good mission to me! Then they played us a lovely song. If you would like to get involved, please contact Deanna Sanders at dsander1@arcatanet.com.

Redwood Rhythm Productions also makes groovy music. They want to both promote local musicians and tour outside the area to help promote music in the schools. As they say: “Redwood Rhythm Productions (RRP) seeks to create an opportunity for Humboldt County musicians, artists, craftspeople, and small businesses to export their brand, while diversifying the reach of their market across the Pacific Northwest and greater West Coast regions. We at RRP realize the importance of both a collective economy and an economic community … All profits and income from touring, merchandise sales, and any donations in excess of tour and operating expenses will go towards the financial support of local elementary school music and arts education. It has been shown time and again that music and arts education contribute significantly to a student’s current and future success, and it is our intention and vision to ensure that all education programs in Humboldt County include a considerable music and arts regimen.” If you’re interested in participating, contact Jesse Jonathan at sambamore.arcata@gmail.com or Tyler Martin at tsm36@humboldt.edu.

The board also heard a presentation from Chris and Marie Wilkins about their building at 23 5th St., Eureka. It’s right next door to their wonderful Bless My Soul Café. The space won’t be ready till the end of November, but hopefully, we should be able to move out of the stately Carson Block Building and slide right into the yellow front building. We’re already thinking about using that yellow as a base for a Creole themed mural. Chris will be more than a landlord, he will also be a partner in various projects and fundraisers. We are really looking forward to this new opportunity and partnership. Thanks Chris and Marie!

Because the move will create new expenses for us in the short and long term, we are working on a fundraising letter that, hopefully, you will be receiving soon. Please be as generous as you can be. We are moving into a new and exciting phase for Ink People and all inkers.

Sundance Ballet Company is the performance company of Eureka’s popular Dance Scene Studios. Founder Carrie Badeaux created Sundance Ballet Company to provide the North Coast with dance performances at a high artistic level usually reserved for larger markets. The company has received critical praise for both choreographic ingenuity and technical quality.

According to Carrie, Sundance Ballet Company strives to enhance its cultural relevance, elevate the quality of local dance, and express the art of our community. The 2014-2015 performance calendar is packed with high-quality productions, outreach programs and an extended touring schedule.

Carrie shares a story about performing in the great outdoors, “Our very first performance was a benefit for the City of Eureka, welcoming hundreds of people from regional city chapters with an outdoor mixer. The organizers didn't take the elements into consideration, nor the time of the sunset, so our tenacious group did a whole performance in the dark in the misty rain. The damp audience was very appreciative of whatever it was able to see and the dancers still had a good time.”

You can see Sundance Ballet perform as part of the Morris Graves Museum's Afternoon of Dance on Sunday, October...
12th at 2 p.m. In keeping with the season, the company will be premiering its contemporary interpretation of the Halloween treat, Danse Macabre. The fanciful musical accompaniment by Camille Saint-Saëns has charmed audiences for generations, and leading dancers since Anna Pavlova have proven that eerie can be beautiful. The program will also feature students of The Dance Scene Studio performing a variety of spooky numbers.

On the same program, The Dance Scene Studio's musical theater group, Redwood Coast Performing Arts, will present "Little Miss High and Mighty." It will be the world premiere of this new song from the British show-in-reparation, Ada Lovelace the Musical, with music and lyrics by Ethan Maltby, Jenna Donnelly, and Mo Pietroni.

And it isn’t too early to be thinking of Christmas! Sundance Ballet Company will stage the classic holiday favorite, The Nutcracker, on December 20th at the Eureka High Auditorium. There are plenty of opportunities to catch the Sundance Ballet Company in action… See you there!

Salmon Is Everything:
Community-Based Theatre in the Klamath Watershed

Theresa May, Jean O’Hara, Suzanne Burcell (Karuk), & Kathy McCovey (Karuk)

After a devastating fish kill on the Klamath River, tribal members and theatre artists developed a play to give voice to the central spiritual and cultural role of salmon in tribal life.

Join the authors for readings from the play and hear their own stories about creative collaboration and the significance of salmon among the people of the Klamath River.

Lucid Art Residency
The Lucid Art Foundation offers an attractive short-term residency program providing selected artists a serene, retreat-like environment for creative exploration. Awardees are provided choice studio and living space in coastal Marin County for three weeks, access to the Foundation’s extensive Library Resource Center, and consultation with an artist and educator.

The Lucid Art Foundation encourages contemplative nonfigurative exploration through automatism, multi-media, conceptual, eco-art and interdisciplinary approaches. Applications for 2015 residencies are being accepted through November 1. For program details and application information visit the Foundation website www.lucidart.org/index.php?p=Residency or e-mail moore@lucidart.org.

Challenge Yourself
The popular Ink People Artists’ Challenge is coming back! Test your creative endurance! Artists who accept the challenge will have one short month to complete 15 original artworks. The thirty days starts with sign up on November 4th, and ends with art drop-off on December 3rd. The art will be sold at Arts Alive! on December 6th to holiday shoppers. Thirty percent of every sale will go to benefit the Ink People’s community art and youth programs, and the rest goes to the artist.

All art must be in one of three sizes, and will sell for a set price based on size. Sizes and prices:
[5"x7" = $21]
[8"x9" = $42]
[11"x14" = $66]

To sign up, contact Kati Texas at painteureka@gmail.com, or stop by the Ink People Office* on November 4th between 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Artists provide their own supplies.

Call to Artists: Dia de los Muertos

The Ink People Center for the Arts and Humboldt Communidad in collaboration with Danza Xalxiutlikue invite you to make art inspired by the Indigenous Mexican traditions of creating altars, offering food and flowers, and compiling photos and memorabilia to celebrate your friends, family and loved ones who have passed on from this life into the next world. Altars can be large or small. They can specifically honor one person who has passed. They can be symbolic and artistic, a reflection upon the current political climate in the United States or the World at large.

The Dia de los Muertos Gallery show will be celebrated November 1st, @ the Brenda Tuxford Gallery 325 Two Street, Suite 203. Altars and other art will be on display the whole month of November.

To submit an altar, please contact INKpeepsDDLM2014@gmail.com or call the Ink People’s office at 707.442.8413

Please include

An Evening of Hats & Yarns

The Humboldt Handweavers and Spinners Guild invites the public to its free October 9th program, Creating Art Yarns. Heather Lightbody of Salem, Oregon will share her Art Yarn Spinning Techniques. The meeting will be held in the Bay Room of the Wharfinger Building, 1 Marina Way, Eureka, at 6:45 p.m.

Heather has been creating free formed crocheted hats since 2002. At first she obtained the yarn she needed by taking apart sweaters from thrift stores near her home in St. Louis, Missouri. After moving to Chicago, Illinois, in 2004 she learned how to spin. Now Heather lives in Salem, Oregon, and gets her wool from different breeds of sheep raised on small area farms. Heather does all of the washing, dyeing, spinning, and crocheting to create her pieces. She loves to create fun, textured yarns for her hats. Everything she makes is one of a kind; no patterns required.

Heather will bring her spinning wheel and samples of her yarns and hats. Participants are are invited to bring their spinning wheels and fibers, and try out some of the techniques. She will also bring a mixed bag of fibers for attendees to spin if they want to add to what they bring. Heather advocates letting go of the notion that yarn is just what sweaters and socks are made with…for her it's about letting go of gauge, wraps per inch, being balanced, and yardage. She will explain how the texture of the fiber has a lot to do with how it spins. She'll also demonstrate some of her favorite techniques including: tailspinning, core spinning, and auto wrapping. She will show how to create a textured art batt on a drum carder.
