SEGAL EDUCATION AWARD

As a member of the federal AmeriCorps program, you are eligible to earn the Segal Education Award (valued at approximately $6,000) at the completion of your service year, which can go toward pursuing further education or to pay off existing, qualified student loans. Additionally, over 100 colleges and universities nationwide augment the Segal Education Award in some way, including matching your award amount (see the complete list of institutions who will match your award), waived registration fees, course credits, or service scholarships.

- In order to be eligible for the full Segal AmeriCorps Education Award Corps members must complete 1,700 hours of service.
- Please read the FAQ for information about repaying accrued interest by the National Service Trust, federal administrator for AmeriCorps’ ed benefits
- Loan forbearance and interest repayments: Forbearance means that you neither make payments nor pay interest on your loan(s) over a specified period. In other words, you will not have to make payments on your loan(s) while you serve.
- Loans do not go into forbearance automatically. There is a forbearance process to follow, the earlier in your term, the better.
- Forbearance applies to most federal loans with two exceptions.
- Private loans do not qualify for forbearance. For steps on how to sign-up for loan forbearance and interest repayments, visit the following CNCS web page.
Educational inequity doesn’t need to be a fact. See a new story. For our future, and for yours.

AmeriCorps members must be a citizen, national, or lawful permanent resident alien of the United States. Due to our partnership with AmeriCorps, we are unfortunately unable to accept applicants who have received Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) or have student visas (such as F1 or F2 student visas, J1 or J2 exchange visitor visas, G series visas, etc).
