

CRAIG HALLER

ABOUT

Singer-songwriter and universe observer, Craig Haller, is based in Nashville, Tennessee, yet his musical ideas pull from worldly travels, an affinity for the Colorado landscape of his childhood, and the diverse nature of his artistic interests. A thoughtful lyricist, multi-instrumentalist, and studio dweller, his compositions are like a breath of fresh Americana with the pleasant aroma of alternative rock, soulful instrumentalism, and nuanced production. After self-releasing various projects over the last decade, his new musical offering is a collection of singles that will be digitally released and added to a playlist entitled, The New Album.

THE NEW ALBUM | 2019

A collection of original songs rounded out with a cleverly reimagined classic, this project explores the meaning of life and one's attempt to make sense of the figures that hide in the darkness of our imaginations. With a backing band of Nashville's finest session players, Craig Haller demonstrates emotional depth, thoughtful production, and beautifully constructed melodies that kindle the fire of remembrance while paving a path to a hopeful future.

WEBSITE | f @ v t

TRACKS

I WANT YOUR LOVE

A sultry and groove-driven request for love, lust, and luscious sounds.

BAD HABITS

This rocker places a worthwhile challenge on the listener to better themselves...hopefully.

30 SOMETHING

There's a time in everyone's life when they realize they're getting older. It's usually when they're 30 something.

CRAZY TRAIN

A delightfully laid back and playful reinterpretation of a timeless classic.

I'M STILL HERE

A haunting musical backdrop responding to the question of existentialism.

'TIL THE WATER RUNS DRY

Accepting the ebb and flow of life is easier with a comforting and memorable melody.