

The Good Gift Guide 2022

NZPost

This Good Gift Guide is supported by ākina, who run New Zealand's leading social procurement programme. ākina has been working with NZ Post to deliver impact through our procurement spend for many years.

The social enterprises in this guide are all certified ākina Impact Suppliers, providing positive impact of many kinds with every product you purchase. The full directory has over 115 different products and services for many different purchasing needs. We encourage you to support these incredible businesses in your procurement decisions and in your Christmas shopping.

To help with delivering your purchases in time for Christmas, we suggest bundling your orders from the same suppliers with your colleagues to reduce the number of parcels in the network at one time.

NZ Post has been part of the fabric of New Zealand for 180 years, our commitment to helping business grow and connecting communities is going from strength to strength.

To make sure we continue to make a tangible difference to the communities we serve, we have put together this useful guide to help you, help social enterprises. Every dollar spent with a social enterprise is helping individuals, communities and the environment.

To help you to choose a gift that makes a positive impact with your purchase, we've once again put together this Good Gift Guide. The guide features several social enterprises that offer products, some will be familiar to you and some new.

Social enterprises are organisations that trade to deliver social and environmental good; they provide goods and services, create jobs and use their profits to help support others in need and/or have a positive environmental impact.

The Good Gift Guide is about getting our people involved, giving you the chance to buy from a business, which like us, is committed to making a difference. We've selected a range of suppliers that offer something for everyone, each with their impact story to tell.

This guide is just a snap shot of what is available, and we are sure the list will evolve over time.

In 2017, we made a commitment to buy some of the goods and services we need from social enterprises. We now have 16 social enterprises in our supply chain and in the last financial year (FTY22) we have spent over $320,000 with them, up 23% from FY21, providing us with a variety of services including taking away our unused office furniture to give to community groups, natural paints for our construction projects, and cleaning services and waste management at multiple sites.

The impact we have helped create includes:

- Increasing people's connection, belonging and inclusion in our communities;
- Ensuring more New Zealanders have meaningful and inclusive employment; and
- Reduction of waste to landfill and reduction of carbon emissions

As well as using our procurement spend to grow this sector, we can also use our discretionary spend (within our current spend guidelines and DFAs). For example, leaving or thank you gifts, and catering for meetings/events (where there is no in-house caterer that can provide the catering).

This guide will give you a great start in making a choice, which will make a real difference.

ethos™

[sustainable beauty]

Ethos and Co

At Ethos & Co we're using premium skincare to create a better world. The hero ingredient of our 100% natural-origin Hand-Wash & Hand & Body Moisturisers is uniquely hand-fermented coconut oil from Kampot, Cambodia. The fermentation process maximises antioxidant & phytonutrient content, helping balance the skin's microbiome & promoting cell renewal.

We ethically source coconuts direct from the tree & contribute to fair-wage employment in Kampot, along with replanting village coconut trees and supporting marine conservation initiatives in Koh Rong National Marine Park. Here, we donate skincare products to community organisations to support the skin health of disadvantaged communities, and help restore native habitat in Kāiapatiki catchment, Tāmaki Makaurau.

Karma Drinks

We believe that what you drink should not only taste good, it should be good for the land, good for the people who grow the ingredients and as good for you as a fizzy drink can be.

Back in 2010 we made our first few bottles of Karma Cola using a bag of cola nuts sent to us by our friends in Boma, a small village in the Gola Rainforest in Sierra Leone. We'd learned that the world drinks more than a million colas a minute but none of the money went back to the people who originally discovered the stuff. So we made a drink to fix that.

Our learnings over the past 10 years have led to an entire family of Fairtrade, Organic and 100% Kiwi owned drinks with money from every bottle sold going back to our Karma Foundation in Sierra Leone.

27SECONDS

27seconds

Every 27 seconds, somewhere in the world, a vulnerable person is trafficked or sold into slavery

Most of us would like to change this. But knowing where to start is overwhelming.

27seconds can help, because every time you buy our wine, you become part of a solution in a small way.

How? Because with each bottle sold, we give away 100% of the profits to help survivors of slavery.

It's a small response to a big issue, but choose it, and together we become part of the solution.

Awarded top marks by New Zealand wine judges, meaning you can have good wine and create some good too!
