Vacancies – Editors

Sculpture Journal Editorial Group: invitation to apply

The Sculpture Journal has been in publication since 1997. Jointly owned by the Public Monuments and Sculpture Association (PMSA) and Liverpool University Press (LUP), it produces three issues a year, with an increasingly wide range of forms and subjects.

An independent Advisory Committee oversees the development of the Journal (with format and stylistic direction from PMSA) but the Editorial Group has editorial freedom and is encouraged to solicit articles about sculpture from all countries and periods, and to understand the discipline in broad cultural and material terms. Whilst looking to develop its diversity and permeation of the sculpture field, the Sculpture Journal is expected to meet standards of scholarly excellence.

We seek to recruit several new editors to form a new Editorial Group, which will be supported by a paid editorial assistant, as well as, more generally, by the PMSA and LUP. Editors are expected to meet as part of the Editorial Group Board 6-9 times per year and ensure liaison with the Advisory Board which meets three times per year. Editors will benefit from a small honorarium and/or travel expenses. This appointment is for a maximum three-year term to allow for the continual development of relevance and reach.

We encourage and welcome applications from suitably skilled candidates from all backgrounds. We value diversity, promote equality and challenge discrimination. We believe that our work, governance, leadership and colleague-base should reflect the full range of backgrounds and perspectives found in our diverse and contemporary society within the UK.

Prospective candidates are invited to send a short CV and covering letter to office@pmsa.org.uk by 30 March 2019, explaining why you feel you are suitable for the role. The Advisory Committee will shortlist candidates for interview, with the aim of building a team with complementary specialisms. Joint applications are also welcome. Interviews will take place on 17th and 18th April 2019.