Queer Me:  2011 NYC
Art & Gender Politics
FEB 11  -  MAR 31, 2011
The premise of this project was to coordinate a Queer Caucus members exhibition comprised of work that challenges the narrow interpretations and representations of queer identity. We selected artists who are connected by their beliefs that contemporary image-making is a means to push the boundaries of art practice as it relates to “queerness.” It was inspiring to see so many artists combine personal vision with an impressive grasp of materials. The eclectic nature of our selection exemplifies the vitality and the freedom of the community in which the work is being made. The work illustrates that the most interesting pieces are grounded in lived experience: conveying a sense of place, where the work was made, and who made it. We’d like to thank the artists whose work we had the privilege of being introduced to via the review process.

Garth Amundson & Pierre Gour
Ghost Written No. VII, No. XVII
Altered pigment prints & serigraph

Garth relentlessly explores identity politics through image making. More recently, his work is made collaboratively with Pierre Gour, his partner of 25 years. This fall, they exhibited a site-specific body of work at Gowoon Gallery in South Korea. Amundson was awarded a J. William Fulbright Foreign Scholarship in 2006-7 and holds an MFA from Syracuse University. He is currently an Associate Professor at Western Washington University.
