The 19th Amendment

ABOUT

The Women's Suffrage Centennial Commission (WSCC) was formed by Congress to commemorate the 100th anniversary of women's right to vote and the 19th Amendment.

Throughout 2020, the United States is celebrating the centennial of the ratification of the 19th Amendment, which secured women's constitutional right to vote. Today, more than 68 million American women vote in elections because of the courageous suffragists who never gave up the fight for equality. This centennial is an unparalleled opportunity to elevate women's history and to commemorate a milestone of American democracy.

Use this toolkit as your guide to commemorating the centennial in your state and community.

LEARN THE HISTORY

THE WOMEN'S SUFFRAGE MOVEMENT

Suffragists began their organized fight for women's equality in 1848 when they demanded the right to vote during the first women's rights convention in Seneca Falls, New York. For the next 72 years, women leaders lobbied, marched, picketed, and protested for the right to the ballot. The U.S. House of Representatives finally approved the "Susan B. Anthony Amendment," which guaranteed women the right to vote, on May 21, 1919. The U.S. Senate followed two weeks later and voted to approve the 19th Amendment on June 4, 1919. The 19th Amendment then went to the states, where it had to be ratified by three-fourths of the then 48 states to be added to the Constitution. Tennessee became the 36th and final state needed to ratify the 19th Amendment on August 18, 1920. On August 26, 1920, the U.S. Secretary of State issued a proclamation declaring the 19th Amendment ratified and officially part of the U.S. Constitution. Today, August 26th is celebrated annually as Women's Equality Day.

MINNESOTA AND THE 19TH AMENDMENT

RATIFICATION DATE: SEPTEMBER 8, 1919

Women first organized and collectively fought for suffrage at the national level in July of 1848. Suffragists such as Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Lucretia Mott convened a meeting of over 300 people in Seneca Falls, New York. In the following decades, women marched, protested, lobbied, and even went to jail. By the 1870s, women pressured Congress to vote on an amendment that would recognize their suffrage rights. This amendment was sometimes known as the Susan B. Anthony Amendment and became the 19th Amendment.

The amendment reads:

"The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

Minnesota women began organizing and lobbying for suffrage in the 1870s. They won the right to vote in school board elections in 1875. Sarah Berger Stearns and Harriet Bishop formed the Minnesota Woman Suffrage Association (MWSA) in 1881 and recruited hundreds of women to join. Their progress convinced the American Woman Suffrage Association (AWSA) to hold their 1885 annual convention in Minneapolis as national leaders saw hope for enfranchising women in the Midwest. MWSA President Dr. Martha Ripley worked for women's rights in healthcare and in employment as well as for suffrage. Beginning in 1893, the MWSA repeatedly lobbied for passage of an amendment to the state constitution to remove the word "male" as a requirement for voter registration, but were never successful.

Building on the re-energized national woman suffrage movement kicked off by the 1913 Suffrage Procession in Washington, DC, the MWSA organized a suffrage parade through the Twin Cities in 1914. Over two thousand women participated. Minnesota women also formed a branch of the National Woman's Party and were active in the NWP's more confrontation tactics. Many picketed the White House and were arrested. The Scandinavian Woman Suffrage Association combined suffrage work with celebration of heritage for the state's largest immigrant group. By 1919, the work of all the suffrage organizations, whose combined membership in Minnesota exceeded 30,000, convinced the legislature to approve Minnesota women's right to vote for president. It was a victory but full suffrage remained to be won.

That same year, after decades of arguments for and against women's suffrage, Congress finally passed the 19th Amendment in June 1919. Once Congress approved the 19th Amendment, at least 36 states needed to vote in favor of it for it to become law. This process is called ratification.

On September 8, 1919, Minnesota became the fifteenth state to ratify the Nineteenth Amendment. By August of 1920, 36 states (including Minnesota) ratified the amendment, ensuring that across the country, the right to vote could not be denied based on sex.

Minnesota Places of Women's Suffrage: The First Presbyterian Church

Founded in the mid-1800s, the church became a gathering space for residents in the small town of Hastings. In 1881, over a dozen women formed the Minnesota Woman Suffrage Association (MWSA). The women distributed literature about suffrage at public events throughout the state. In the years before the passage of the 19th Amendment, the MWSA organized public demonstrations, including a march through the city of Minneapolis in 1914. The church is listed on the National Register.
