Throughout 2020, the United States is celebrating the centennial of the ratification of the 19th Amendment, which secured women’s constitutional right to vote. Today, more than 68 million American women vote in elections because of the courageous suffragists who never gave up the fight for equality. This centennial is an unparalleled opportunity to elevate women’s history and to commemorate a milestone of American democracy.

The Women’s Suffrage Centennial Commission (WSCC) was formed by Congress to commemorate the 100th anniversary of women’s right to vote and the 19th Amendment.

Use this toolkit as your guide to commemorating the centennial in your state and community.

ALICE PAUL IN FRONT OF THE NATIONAL WOMAN’S PARTY HEADQUARTERS, WASHINGTON, D.C., 1920.
THE WOMEN’S SUFFRAGE MOVEMENT

Suffragists began their organized fight for women’s equality in 1848 when they demanded the right to vote during the first women’s rights convention in Seneca Falls, New York. For the next 72 years, women leaders lobbied, marched, picketed, and protested for the right to the ballot. The U.S. House of Representatives finally approved the “Susan B. Anthony Amendment,” which guaranteed women the right to vote, on May 21, 1919. The U.S. Senate followed two weeks later and voted to approve the 19th Amendment on June 4, 1919. The 19th Amendment then went to the states, where it had to be ratified by three-fourths of the then 48 states to be added to the Constitution. Tennessee became the 36th and final state needed to ratify the 19th Amendment on August 18, 1920. On August 26, 1920, the U.S. Secretary of State issued a proclamation declaring the 19th Amendment ratified and officially part of the U.S. Constitution. Today, August 26th is celebrated annually as Women’s Equality Day.

NORTH CAROLINA QUICK FACTS

- North Carolina ratified the 19th Amendment on May 6, 1971.
- North Carolina almost became the 36th state and final state needed to ratify the 19th Amendment, but representatives’ disagreements on the vote stalled the decision.
- The second annual State Suffrage Convention was held on October 29, 1915 at the Battery Park Hotel in Asheville, NC.
- Suffrage organizations such as the North Carolina Association of Colored Women’s Clubs and the Goldsboro Equal Suffrage League were active in North Carolina.
- Suffragists such as Charlotte Hawkins Brown, Anna Julia Cooper, Mary Cowper, and Gertrude Weil were active in North Carolina.
Women first organized and collectively fought for suffrage at the national level in July of 1848. Suffragists such as Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Lucretia Mott convened a meeting of over 300 people in Seneca Falls, New York. In the following decades, women marched, protested, lobbied, and even went to jail. By the 1870s, women pressured Congress to vote on an amendment that would recognize their suffrage rights. This amendment was sometimes known as the Susan B. Anthony Amendment and became the 19th Amendment.

The amendment reads:
"The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

After decades of arguments for and against women's suffrage, Congress finally passed the 19th Amendment in June 1919. After Congress passed the 19th Amendment, at least 36 states needed to vote in favor of it for it to become law. This process is called ratification.

Women’s suffrage had a lot of support in North Carolina. By the time the 19th Amendment reached the North Carolina state legislature in August of 1920, 35 other states had already ratified it.

Many Americans thought North Carolina would become the 36th and final state to ratify the amendment. But many of the state representatives could not agree on whether or not to recognize women’s suffrage rights. Then news came that Tennessee had ratified the amendment, making it the 36th state to ratify the 19th Amendment. As a result, women’s suffrage became legal all across the country, even in North Carolina.

In 1971, fifty years later, North Carolina ratified the 19th Amendment.

North Carolina Places of Women's Suffrage: Battery Park Hotel

The second annual State Suffrage Convention was held on October 29, 1915 at the Battery Park Hotel in Asheville. The hotel is listed on the National Register of Historic Places. Convention organizers welcomed fellow suffragists from across the country. But the North Carolina Equal Suffrage League discouraged more confrontational suffragists from attending, including Alice Paul. North Carolina women believed their mission would be undermined by suffragists like Paul as she was more direct in her tactics.

COMMENEMORATE ACROSS YOUR STATE

Issue Proclamations or Executive Orders: Encourage your Governor and Mayors across the state to issue a commemorative proclamation or executive order to recognize your state’s or community’s role in the women’s suffrage movement, designate August 26, 2020 as Women’s Equality Day, or designate 2020 as “The Year of North Carolina Women.” Find samples and templates at womensvote100.org/resolutionsandorders.

Pass Resolutions: Encourage your state legislature, city councils, and town councils to pass commemorative resolutions to recognize your state’s or community’s role in the women’s suffrage movement, designate August 26, 2020 as Women’s Equality Day, or reaffirm your state’s or community’s commitment to the 19th Amendment and to uplifting women’s voices. Find samples and templates at womensvote100.org/resolutionsandorders.

Join the Forward Into Light Campaign: On August 26, 2020, buildings and landmarks across the country will light up in purple and gold to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the 19th Amendment and women’s right to vote. This nationwide celebration of the centennial is named for the historical suffrage slogan, “Forward through the Darkness, Forward into Light.” Work with leaders, organizations, and communities in your state to celebrate women’s right to vote in the official suffrage colors of purple and gold, from the State Capitol to skyscrapers to bridges to city halls.

WHAT’S HAPPENING IN NORTH CAROLINA

- In March 2019, the North Carolina Department of Natural and Cultural Resources launched a campaign in celebration of the centennial of women’s right to vote called She Changed the World: NC Women Breaking Barriers

COMING UP IN 2020

Forward Into Light: As part of the WSCC’s Forward Into Light campaign, states across the country will light their buildings and landmarks in purple and gold on August 26, 2020, the centennial of the ratification of the 19th Amendment. Some states started commemorating the centennial with lightings in 2019, including Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, and Virginia. Are you in for August 26, 2020? Contact the WSCC for more information.

Project 19: Led by the Women’s Skydiving Network (WSN), Project 19 is a planned jump of 100 women skydivers in July 2020 outside of Chicago in celebration of the centennial of women’s right to vote. The WSN also has a sponsored all-women Professional Demonstration Team, which is scheduling jumps (at no charge!) during 19th Amendment celebrations around the country throughout 2020. For more information, contact Team Captain Melanie Curtis at mel@melaniecurtis.com.

Votes for Women Trail: The National Votes for Women Trail is a project led by the National Collaborative for Women’s History Sites to place historic markers at locations relevant to the history of the women’s suffrage movement in all 50 states. The WSCC is partnering with the National Collaborative for Women’s History Sites to complete the Trail in 2020. Visit womensvote100.org/votes-for-women-trail to follow the Trail and find historic sites in your state.

Centennial Ride: In honor of the centennial of the 19th Amendment, hundreds of women and men will participate in a cross-country motorcycle tour in 2020. Riders will leave from ten different starting cities around the country, and more than 1,000 riders will converge on Washington, D.C. between August 20-23, 2020. Learn more at www.centennialride.com.
What: Hold a press conference, reception, or public program commemorating the centennial of the 19th Amendment and women’s right to vote. Keep reading for examples and ideas!

Where: Host an event at your State Capitol or City Hall, or at a historic site, museum, school, university, or community center. Find a list of historic sites and places in North Carolina along the National Votes for Women Trail at womensvote100.org/get-involved.

When: Events celebrating the centennial can be held anytime throughout 2020, but particularly important dates include Black History Month (February), Women’s History Month (March), and June-August 2020, building up to the official centennial date on August 26, 2020.

Who: Invite members of your community to your event, as well as state or local leaders such as your Governor, First Lady/First Partner, Members of Congress, State Legislators, Mayor, or local Council Members. Invite a guest speaker, such as a women’s suffrage historian, and invite historic performers to portray famous women of history. Find a list of historians and performers at womensvote100.org/get-involved.

Additional Details: The suffragists wore white dresses to display their unity, and the yellow rose became a symbol of the movement’s ultimate victory. At your commemorative event, decorate the room with yellow roses, suggest your guests dress in white attire, and offer replica Votes for Women pins, which can be provided by the WSCC.
