WAIVER TO PARTICIPATE IN A CLASS AT FOOTHILLS ART CENTER

Foothills Art Center staff, teachers, and volunteers have abided by the stay at home mandates.

Why? By staying at home we have done our part to distance ourselves and ensure we are healthy and safe when we come back to work. We want to be part of the solution, not the problem. If our students have done the same, we know we have a safe and healthy environment for all of us.

By bringing your kids or yourself you acknowledge:

• You have practiced proper social distancing and respected the state and local stay at home mandates placed upon all of us.
• You have not been sick in the two weeks prior to arriving at Foothills nor have you been exposed to anyone you know of who has been diagnosed with the coronavirus.
• In the two weeks before you arrive at Foothills, you have not been in contact with anyone who has been in contact with someone known to be diagnosed with COVID-19.

In the event one of our employees or your family members is to become sick with the coronavirus after a class, we will not hold each other liable for any wrongdoing.

In an effort to take extended precautions, all Foothills employees and students will wear face masks when conducting classes. Extensive hand washing and use of disinfectant wipes/sprays are also a high priority for Foothills and will be implemented multiple times a day.

In the event a Foothills employee becomes sick, they will be tested immediately and if found to have tested positive for COVID-19, all families who have been in contact with them will be contacted immediately.

We understand life must go on, but we also must take the issues of today extremely serious and do what we can to ensure the health and safety of one another.

Last but not least, we appreciate more than ever your trust and commitment to Foothills Art Center. We always take pride in taking care of our staff and community and we want to continue to do so in these times in the safest manner possible.
