FERPA (The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act)

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (commonly referred to as “FERPA” or the “Buckley Amendment”), helps protect the privacy of student records. The Act provides students with the right to inspect and review education records, the right to seek to amend those records and, the right to limit disclosure of information from the records. The Act applies to all institutions that are the recipients of federal funding.

In accordance with FERPA, Northwood University has policies and procedures in place to protect the privacy of education records. Students will be notified of their FERPA rights annually by publication in the Undergraduate and Graduate Catalogs and by an annual email message to students at the beginning of the academic year.

Annual Notification to Students of Rights Under FERPA

FERPA affords students certain rights with respect to their education records. They include:

1. Right to Inspect and Review Records
   The right to inspect and review the student's education records within 45 days after the day the University receives a request for access. A student should submit to the registrar, dean, head of the academic department, or other appropriate official, a written request that identifies the record(s) the student wishes to inspect. The University official will make arrangements for access and notify the student of the time and place where the records may be inspected. If the records are not maintained by the University official to whom the request was submitted, that official shall advise the student of the correct official to whom the request should be addressed.

2. Right to Request Amendment of Records
   The right to request the amendment of the student's education records that the student believes are inaccurate, misleading, or otherwise violate the student's privacy rights under FERPA. Students should write the University official responsible for the record, clearly identify the part of the record they want changed, and specify why it should be changed. If the University decides not to amend the record as requested, the University will notify the student of the decision and advise the student of his or her right to a hearing regarding the request for amendment. Additional information regarding the hearing procedures will be provided to the student when notified of the right to a hearing.

3. Right to Consent to Disclosure
   The right to provide written consent before the university discloses personally identifiable information from the student's education records, except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent (see “Disclosure of Education Records” below).

4. Right to File FERPA Complaints
   The right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education concerning alleged failures by Northwood University to comply with the requirements of FERPA. The name and address of the Office that administers FERPA is:
   Family Policy Compliance Office
   U.S. Department of Education
   400 Maryland Avenue, SW.
   Washington, DC, 20202

Directory Information

Institutions may disclose information on a student without violating FERPA through what is known as "directory information." FERPA permits the release of directory information without a student’s consent. Northwood University designates the following categories of student information as public or "Directory Information." Such information may be disclosed by the institution at its discretion.

- Corporate affiliation
- Degrees awarded, including dates (actual and expected)
- Dates of attendance
- Degree program (major field of study, concentrations and minors)
- Degrees and honors awarded (including Dean’s List)
- Enrollment Status (including full or part-time)
- Honor Societies
- Photo
- Previous institutions attended
- Class standing (freshman, sophomore, junior, senior, graduate student)
- Name, address and phone number
- E-mail address

A student has the right to refuse to permit the designation of any or all of the categories of directory information. Any student wishing to exercise this right must inform the Northwood University-Office of the Registrar, in writing, on or before the start of the semester of the categories of personally identifiable information that are not to be designated as directory information with respect to that student.

Solomon Amendment

Federal law requires that all institutions of higher learning provide directory information to the military upon request, including student name, address, telephone number, age or year of birth, academic major and level of education (e.g. freshman, sophomore, etc. or degree awarded). Where there is a conflict between the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA), the Solomon Amendment supersedes FERPA.
