The 2019 Catholic Tipping Point Tour is coming to Chestnut Hill

Philadelphia is one of only six U.S. cities chosen for this speaking tour.

Join Us Thursday, September 12th

Marie Collins, clergy sexual abuse survivor, will speak on
*A Crisis of Culture: Seeking Justice to Reclaim the Church

You are invited to join with other progressive Catholics from throughout the Delaware Valley as we come together to listen to Marie Collins and generate concrete new initiatives to create a truly accountable local Church community.

WHO? Marie Collins is the foremost advocate for justice for survivors of clergy sexual abuse and accountability in the Roman Catholic Church. Collins, a survivor of clergy abuse as a child in Dublin, Ireland, is a former member of the Vatican's Commission on the Protection of Minors. Marie will offer perspective on the Catholic Church's culture of abuse and cover-up and concrete actions Catholics can take to demand reform and justice.

WHAT? This is the third "Catholic Tipping Point" Speaking Tour with a stop in Philadelphia. Partnering with the Institute for Forgiveness and Reconciliation at Chestnut Hill College, the event is being sponsored by:
Association for the Rights of Catholics | Catholics for Choice | CORPUS Call to Action | DignityUSA | Ecumenical Catholic Communion
FutureChurch | New Ways Ministry | House of Grace Catholic Worker
Renewing and Priestly People Ordination Considered Today
Survivor's Network of those Abused by Priests | Quixote Center
Southeastern Pennsylvania Women's Ordination Conference
Women-Church Convergence | Women's Ordination Conference.
