Covid team communication

After much discussion and in light of the rise in Covid cases in our region, the Kensington Congregational Church Covid Team has chosen to err on the side of caution and will be requiring masks for all indoor group activities, services and parish hall events regardless of an individual’s vaccination status.

With the Berlin Fair right around the corner, we have also developed the following guidelines:

- During preparation work in the parish hall (i.e. pies) all volunteers will need to be masked and practice social distancing.
- In the fair booth, unvaccinated individuals will required to wear a mask, while those who are vaccinated are still encouraged to do so.

We encourage any volunteers who will be working at the fair booth and have not yet been vaccinated to please strongly consider getting vaccinated before the fair to help protect not only yourself, in what will likely be a crowded situation, but also your co-workers. Even one shot is better than no shot in this challenging time.

Please note that fair booth masking policies are still subject to change based on future directives from the Lions or the local health department.

We hope that these efforts in the interest of safety and caring result in the best possible outcome.
