- (3) An applicant is not a fit and proper person for the purposes of section 64(e) if the applicant is currently insolvent or under administration.

66 Licence decision-making: consultation

- (1) The Authority, on receiving an application for a licence, must, as soon as practicable and within the prescribed period (if any) after deciding that the applicant satisfies the qualification criteria,—
- (a) give notice setting out appropriately comprehensive information about that application to any neighbouring State that may be affected by the proposed seabed mineral activities described within that application; and
 - (b) notify the application to the public of the Cook Islands in accordance with the prescribed procedures or otherwise as the Authority considers appropriate; and

- (a) would give exploration or mining rights over an area—
 - (i) that is covered by an existing licence or that has been retained under section 79 (except if a person applies for a mining licence in circumstances permitted under section 59(3)); or
 - (ii) that has been reserved by the responsible Minister under section 42(1)(b), unless the licence is for the person for whom the reservation was made; or
 - (b) would be likely to lead to a contravention of a declaration of a marine protected area, the Marae Moana Act 2017, or other zoning rules; or
 - (c) is not demonstrably in the national interest.
- (2) In considering the national interest, regard must be had to the following factors:

- (3) Nothing in this section prevents a person from applying for judicial review of a licence decision in accordance with the laws of the Cook Islands, but the application for judicial review must be made within 28 days of the on date which the person was notified of the licence decision.

76 Duration of licence

- (1) The responsible Minister may grant an exploration licence for any period determined by the responsible Minister, not exceeding 5 years, commencing on a date (within the prescribed period (if any)) that is agreed with the applicant.

 - (c) the licensee satisfies the prescribed requirements and pays the prescribed fee.

77 Exclusivity of licence and security of tenure

- (2) A licence must not be varied, suspended, or cancelled except in accordance with this Act and the regulations.

78 Relinquishment

- (1) The Authority may, in accordance with the regulations or the terms of the exploration licence, require an exploration licensee to relinquish a percentage or portions of the licensed exploration area over a set time period—
 - (a) in accordance with a schedule set by the Authority in the licence; or
 - (b) for a prescribed purpose and in a prescribed manner.

- (2) The Authority may approve or decline the request for retention of blocks specified by a former licensee under subsection (1)(b), or to renew a previous retention, for a period of not more than 5 years from the date of termination, if the former licensee continues to demonstrate to the Authority's satisfaction that—
- (a) the former licensee is taking diligent steps towards making an application for a mining licence in respect of the retained area; or
 - (b) there are good grounds for the former licensee not yet applying for a mining licence in respect of the area.
- (3) If the Authority decides to approve the request to retain blocks under subsection (2), the Authority must—

 - (b) publish a notice of the retention in the Gazette, and record the retention in the register of titles, and on the website of the Authority.

80 Extension of exploration licence during mining licence application

If an application for a mining licence is made by an exploration licensee in respect of the exploration licensed area, the exploration licence continues in force until the time at which the applicant receives a final decision on the mining licence application.

81 Mining licence gives licensee rights to seabed minerals recovered

- (1) When seabed minerals are recovered by a mining licensee from the licensed area in accordance with the terms of the licence,—
- (a) the licensee acquires title to, and property rights over, those seabed minerals at the point of extraction, from the seabed, including the right to transport, market, process, sell, and export the seabed minerals; and
 - (b) subject to this Act, to freely utilise any sale proceeds; and
 - (c) the seabed minerals are not subject to the rights of any other person.

- (2) A licensee who contravenes this section is liable to pay a pecuniary penalty not exceeding $2,000,000.

83 Diligent mining

- (1) Once mining of seabed minerals has commenced under a mining licence, the licensee must, within reasonable limits and taking into consideration all relevant factors, continue mining in the prescribed manner—
- (a) throughout the period of the licence; or
 - (b) as provided in the work plan.
- (2) Despite subsection (1), the Authority may, at the licensee's request, authorise the temporary suspension of the licensee's mining activities, if the Authority is satisfied that there are good grounds for doing so.

84 When project permit required

A project permit is required to be obtained in relation to seabed minerals activities under this Act in the circumstances set out in section 36 of the Environment Act 2003.

85 Part of licensed area outside of national jurisdiction

If part of the licensed area includes or purports to include an area that is outside the national jurisdiction of the Cook Islands,—

- (a) the licence remains valid; but
- (b) the licence does not authorise seabed mineral activities to be carried out within that area.

86 Renewal of licence

- (1) A licensee may apply to the Authority for successive renewals of a licence.
- (2) On receipt of an application, the Authority and, as the case requires, the licensing panel must treat the applications as an application for a licence, and sections 58 to 80 apply accordingly with any necessary modifications.

- (5) If a renewal is to be denied, the Authority must follow the processes set out in section 74.
- (6) If the renewal relates to a mining licence, the renewed licence is not valid until the licensee presents to the Authority written advice obtained from the National Environment Service that the renewed mining activities are permitted under the Environment Act 2003.

87 Review of work plan

- (1) A joint review by the licensee and Authority of each licence work plan—
 - (a) must be carried out promptly after completion of any environmental impact assessment conducted under the Environment Act 2003 after the date of grant of the licence; and
 - (b) must be conducted in accordance with any prescribed procedures, or the procedures described in the licence; and
 - (c) may be performed at reasonable intervals at the request of the licensee or by the Authority (if the Authority becomes aware of new information); and
 - (d) may lead to a variation of the licence or work plan.
- (2) The Authority may require the licensee to submit additional data for the purposes of a joint review.
