Network Theory of Change
Acting within a Shared Context
Connecting Theory and Practice

How does this articulation of the way networks create impact relate to your thinking and practice?

This is very different from how I think and talk about networks.

This resonates with me conceptually, but I haven’t articulated it like this.

This aligns closely with how I think and talk about networks.
Mural Activity with Teams

Theory of Change Storyboard

Current State of the System
What is happening and how are teams in the system at this stage?

Activity Overview:
Within each section of the theory of change, describe the shifts that must take place to transform the system from where it is now to where it will be when your vision is realized. Then, define our role in facilitating that shift.

SYSTEM IMPACT
How does the system now and fundamentally different now is possible?

Questions, Challenges, Insights
There is a space for ideas from the group to acknowledge and remember for future conversations.

Recruit collaborators: multiple opportunities to share your vision and increase support at scale. Encourage partnerships and forms of new funding, and leverage new opportunities and connections, the more the better!
