THE ONLY THING BIGGER THAN THE WORLD IS FEAR

Lucy’s life by the pond has always been full. She has water and friends, laughter and the love of her adoptive mother, Lynn, who has made sure that Lucy’s childhood was very different from her own. Yet it seems Lucy’s future is settled already—a house, a man, children, and a water source—and anything beyond their life by the pond is beyond reach.

When disease burns through their community, the once life-saving water of the pond might be the source of what’s killing them now. Rumors of desalinization plants in California have lingered in Lynn’s mind, and the prospect of a “normal” life for Lucy sets the two of them on an epic journey west to face new dangers: hunger, mountains, deserts, betrayal, and the perils of a world so vast that Lucy fears she could be lost forever, only to disappear in a handful of dust.

➢ What is the conflict that is set up in the first chapter? Explain it in detail and then hypothesize the role it may play in future chapters.

➢ How would you describe Lucy and Stebb’s relationship? Cite specific examples from the text to support your view.

Chapter Two

➢ When speaking of those who are sick, Lynn says, “Maybe those that get sick are just happy to have it done, no matter how it ends. Like when Poe said,

“The sickness-the nausea-
The pitiless pain-
Have ceased, with the fever
That maddened my brain-
With the fever called ‘Living’
That burned in my brain.”

Explain what she means by this. How does it relate to the polio that is affecting everyone?

➢ After speaking with Lynn, Lucy promises she’ll stay away from Carter. What indications show that she will? What indications show that she won’t?
Chapter Three
➢ When talking with Vera, Lucy says, “People break rules, Grandma.” Where have we seen examples of rules already broken in this book?

➢ In an environment such as the one in the book, do you agree with Abigail’s mistrust and decision to live on top of the hill away from everyone? Or do you think it’s better to live with others to provide help and support? Explain your view.

Chapter Four
➢ Stebbs says, “Lots of people are mourning right now, and once that’s done, they’ll turn to wanting to know why their people died. They’ll need someone to blame.” Do you believe this way of thinking is true? When have we seen similar reactions in history? In literature?

➢ Why do you think Monica chose not to go with her son? Do you understand her choice? Why or why not?

➢ When faced with the dilemma of having to leave the pond behind to protect Lucy, Lynn says she would do it because, “that’s what a real mother does.” Where in the book so far have we seen examples of Lynn treating Lucy like a mother would her child. Cite specific examples from the text.

➢ When saying goodbye to people, Lynn states, “Beyond Stebbs and Vera, who else have I got to say it to?” Lucy replies, “There’s others that like you, if you’d let ‘em.” Why do you think Lynn doesn’t let them? What is her motivation?

➢ When Lucy questions whether she is the carrier of polio, Lynn says, “I know you right past your skin, through your bones and down into your blood, and there is nothing inside of you that could hurt anyone. I know it for a fact, I know it the way the sun’s going to come up tomorrow the same place it did today.” Do you believe her? Who do you think is the carrier of polio? Why? What indications show that this person would be?

Chapter Five
➢ Where do we see examples of irony in this chapter? List some of them.

➢ Vera tells Lucy not to live like her, Stebbs or Lynn, “Get out of here. Don’t live Lynn’s way, or Stebbs’ way, or even my way. Live, and go find something new.” Describe what the way of living is for Stebbs, Lynn, and Vera. What do you think the new way of living that Vera wants Lucy to do is?

Chapter Six

Do you think that if Carter tests negative for being the carrier for polio, will Lynn allow him to travel west with her and Lucy? Why or why not?

Chapter Eight
➢ At one point, Lucy thinks that Lynn might be considering staying at the lake instead of going to California. She reflects that, “Oddly, she didn't feel the elation she expected. The promise of California had seeped its way into her soul without her being aware of it, and the chance to live a different version on the same life—only with a bigger water source—didn't hold the allure she had expected.” Explain why you think she feels this way.

➢ What do you think is the better option; going to California or settling somewhere that has a good water source? Explain your view.

➢ Lucy tells Lynn, “I wish I could be more like you.” How are Lucy and Lynn alike? How are they different? Use specific examples from the book to support your reasoning.

➢ Lucy reflects on her past life where she was drawn to advice. She thinks that, “Now Maddy was dead, Carter missing, and the intense way Lynn checked and rechecked her rifle reminded Lucy that safety was not a given.” Using what we know and have already seen in the book, hypothesize the potential threats that Lynn and Lucy may face.

Chapter Nine
➢ Do you think it was a good or bad idea for Lynn to allow Joss to travel with them? Evaluate both the positive points and negative points.

➢ Joss tells Lucy that there was a time where, “Sometimes it almost made me stark crazy, the pressure of having all those choices. I could’ve been a lawyer, doctor, bus driver, violinist—hell, even an astronaut.” Describe what she meant by that pressure. Do you believe that is true? Do you feel pressure like that? Explain why or why not.

➢ What kind of pressure do you think is worse… the pressure Joss used to feel or the one that they are living with now? Why?

➢ At the end of the chapter, Lynn compares Entargo to the lump of cancer Vera cut out of Mr. Adams, “An unnatural growth cropping up somewhere it had no business, in the middle of fields and forest, with straight cement roots no amount of cutting will ever get out of the dirt.” Explain what she means by this metaphor.

➢ Lynn quotes the following lines of a poem:
  “And in these dark cells,

souls live, hideous yet-
O disfigured, defaced, with no trace of beauty
men once held of light.”
Explain what she means by these lines using specific examples from the text.
Chapter Ten

➢ Joss comments on Lynn's skepticism of people, “Do you always think people are a bad thing?” Lynn responds with, “Generally.” Do you think she’s right to feel this way? Why or why not? If you were in this situation, who do you think you would be more like; Lynn or Lucy? Explain why.

➢ After Joss finds out that Lucy is a dowser, she comments on Lynn by saying, “No wonder she keeps you so close.” Lucy replies, “Lynn keeps me close ‘cause she loves me.” Joss says, “You keep telling yourself that, honey.” Do you think there is any truth in Joss’ words? Chapter Fourteen

➢ Lucy is driven by the idea of hope that she’ll be with Carter again. What else is driving or motivating Lucy and Lynn?

➢ When Lynn comments that she wishes she knew what she was doing, Lucy tells her that she does. Lucy states, “I’d have been dead hundreds of miles back without you.” Lynn says, “You wouldn’t be… You got a light in your eyes now when we talk about California. You want it, and you’d keep going without me in order to get it.” Do you believe that is true? Could Lucy survive without Lynn? Why or why not?

Chapter Fifteen

➢ Lucy reveals that she’s terrified of being alone, while Lynn says, “Here you are terrified we haven’t seen anybody, and I’m thrilled to death.” In what other ways are Lynn and Lucy different? How are they alike? Use specific examples from the text to support your view.
➢ Lynn recites Whitman by saying:
   “I exist as I am, that is enough.
   If no other in the world be aware I sit content,
   And if each and all be aware I sit content.”
Explain what these lines mean and how they relate to Lynn’s way of thinking.

➢ Explain how Lynn and Lucy’s view of graveyards differ. Whose view do you agree with? Why?

➢ Do you agree with Lucy; is Lynn a great mom? Evaluate both her good and bad qualities as a mother.

➢ Lucy and Lynn talk about “what ifs.” Lynn says, “But that’s life, little one—lots of little maybes and what ifs all lined up in a row. And if you put your mind to following some of them that never came about, you’ll get lost and not find your way back to the way it really is.” What are some “maybes” and “what ifs” that Lucy seems to be carrying around with her?

Chapter Seventeen

➢ Explain what Lynn means when she says, “In a world like this, you pay it forward, ’cause more than likely you didn’t deserve it when you got it the first time.” Can you think of examples from the text where we see Lynn doing this?

Chapter Eighteen
➢ How would you characterize Fletcher? Cite specific lines to help support your view.

➢ Should Lynn and Lucy trust Fletcher? Why or why not?

Chapter Nineteen
➢ Fletcher can’t remember his age and says, “Certain things slip away from you, when you’re on the road as long as I have been.” Why do you think his age is one of the things that slipped away? What’s significant about that?

➢ When Lynn asks Fletcher why he is helping them, he replies, “I understand you’ve been on a hard road, and I don’t doubt my wife has seen the same trials. I’ll help you—on stranger to another—in the hopes that somewhere, someone is doing the same for her. If I can’t find her, the best I can do is believe in karma.” Lynn tells him, “And keep the karma talk to yourself.” Do you think Lynn believes in karma? Why or why not?
Where has karma come into play for Lucy and Lynn in the story? You may list both positive and negative examples.

Fletcher tells Lynn and Lucy that he's never settled down. He comments, “Because I’ve learned a lesson, and more than once. But there's still illness an accidents, and different kinds of work to be done every day.” At this point in the story, do you believe Lynn and Lucy made the right decision to leave their farm? Why or why not?

➢ Lucy tells Fletcher that she's afraid she's like her mom, “You don't know the half of it, Fletcher. My mom, my real mom, she killed herself rather than have to face her fears. That's who I am. It's in my blood.” Do you believe this? Do you think Lynn is this type of person? Where do we see indications in the book that she is? Where do we see indications that she isn't?

➢ Lucy tells Fletcher that she plans to find Carter again, but Fletcher tells her that when she gets to Sand City she's going to meet a whole new group of people, “You'll be welcome in Sand City. A whole group of new people, kind ones, people who'll take to you—and you to them. It's apparent that you form attachments quickly. Will you walk out on a whole city of new friends for the sake of one old one?” Lynn responds by saying, “Is it right for me to leave Carter alone forever because my grandma didn't know the answer to a question?” Whose way of thinking do you think is right? ➢ When Nora talks about the mountain lion that killed her daughter, she says, “I don’t know if you’ve ever seen a cat hunt, but a lion will stalk its prey same as little tame cats. No matter how many times I tell myself it’s helping nobody, I’ve played it through my head a million times how that cat must’ve followed the two of them, sliding through the shadows and waiting for the chance to pounce.” How can this be a metaphor to what has happened in the book so far?

➢ When Lynn sneaks in to talk with Lucy, Lucy comments about the three men who are brought back and says, “There’s no reason to think any harm was done to them, anymore than’s been done to us.” Lynn replies with, “And what has been done to us?” What does she mean by this? What has been done to her and Lucy?

She told me it was all salt, and no relief in it—’Water, water everywhere and not a drop to drink.’ I broke the damn thing and swore to never find comfort in anything too good to be true again.” How has this way of thinking shaped Lynn’s life? Where do we see her thinking like this in the book?
