COVID at CAMP

If you have symptoms of COVID, don’t come to camp, you will be turned away.

If you develop an illness at camp, depending on your symptoms, the medical staff will arrange for your parents to come and get you and do successive testing at either your PCP or another facility to test you in Lubbock. Since testing is not completely accurate though, we will still not allow you to return to camp even if you are tested positive for another disease. The medical personal will consult with the camp administration for ultimate determination of status of the camper’s destination.

If the camper’s parents are called to pick up the camper, the camper will be isolated for up to 8 hours for the parents/guardian to pick them up. We have a designated quarantine area for the purpose of isolation that will help keep the other campers safe.

If the camper tests positive at camp, the remainder of the staff and camper who comes into close contact will at the medical directors direction, be sent home for testing and/or quarantine. Having smaller groups is an effort to prevent entire camps from being infected if a COVID infected camper is accidently introduced into the camp environment.

We will restrict Parents, Guardians, Families, and non-essential visitors from entering camp at all times. No one should enter without permission of Papa Beene or Medical Director. A contact phone number will be placed on the outside gate in case anyone shows up unannounced.

Staff/Counselors cannot leave camp premises without authorization of the Camp Director/Medical Director.

Medical Director can be contacted 24/7 if problems develop for any camper or staff. 911 is also present to the camp but response times can be long if the only unit is already on a call.
