WHAT IS IT?
The National Indian Education Association partnered with KAIROS Canada to become certified facilitators of the Kairos Blanket Healing Exercise (KBE). NIEA participated in the Facilitator Training so that we would be able to provide and implement the blanket healing exercise in our own local communities, both Native and non-Native.

The KAIROS Blanket Exercise program is a unique, participatory history lesson—developed in collaboration with Indigenous Elders, knowledge keepers and educators—that fosters truth, understanding, respect and reconciliation among Indigenous and non-Indigenous peoples.

“There was tremendous value to doing this training with NIEA, the other participants at the training added a lot of perspective and richness to the discussion.”

“This exercise showed me other ways to share the truth and how to express ourselves with emphasis on cultural relativity.”

THE EXPERIENCE
During this exercise, participants stand and walk on blankets representing the land and into the role of Native peoples experienced during pre-contact, treaty-making, colonization and resistance.

Participants are guided through the exercise by trained facilitators who read the script and assume the roles of European explorers and Indigenous knowledge keepers. The exercise concludes with a debriefing, conducted as a ‘talking circle,’ during which participants discuss the learning experience, process their feelings, ask questions, share insights, deepen their understanding, and create actionable next steps for their work.

HISTORY
Created in 1997, the KAIROS Blanket Exercise explores the major themes and findings of the Royal Commission on Aboriginal Peoples (RCAP). A precursor to KAIROS, the Aboriginal Rights Coalition (ARC) brought to the table Elders, participatory, popular education experts and members of the Assembly of First Nations Education Department. The concern was that RCAP would be shelved and forgotten. From this group of Indigenous and non-Indigenous peoples, the Blanket Exercise was created. ARC and then KAIROS have guided its ongoing development for two decades. Versions for different regions of Canada now exist as well as adaptations for Australia, Guatemala and the United States.
