Research Symposium Proposals

55th Annual NIEA Convention & Trade Show
October 9-12, 2024

About the Research Symposium

For our 2024 convention, we will host a Research Symposium on Thursday afternoon and all-day Friday. All research presentations will be hosted consecutively in a large auditorium with opportunities for dialogue and questions. If you would rather present your research in a workshop format, please submit your presentation as a workshop proposal. Please note that due to the high volume of workshop proposals, acceptance will be limited.

NIEA Convention welcomes contributions from all areas of education research that should focus on issues specific to American Indian, Alaska Native, and Native Hawaiian communities. The symposium will support multigenerational researchers: high-school, undergraduate, graduate, and experienced professionals. Your research investigation should be inquiry-based (address a societal problem or issues, answer a research question, test a hypothesis, explore and articulate an in-depth literature review, use an appropriate and relevant methodology, provide a thorough and rigorous analysis of data, and derive results, conclusion, and implications, etc.) with supporting qualitative and/or quantitative evidence that informs the findings.

Research presentations are 60-minute sessions.

Submission Requirements

- Researcher/Presenter contact information
- A brief title (less than 100 characters)
- 300-character abstract
- Theoretical framework
- Findings (or methods for future data analysis)

Poster Sessions Proposals

Walk-Through Presentation to Create Dialogue About Your Research

This session is an open forum for young, emerging, and experienced professionals to share best practices and related resources with colleagues. This NIEA session will highlight successful and innovative research, programming and practices within Native education spanning Pre-K through Post-Secondary.

Presentations will highlight the main points or components of best practice in a way that participants can easily learn about a topic. These sessions will be featured in an engaging gallery walk format where participants will have the chance to share their work with attendees as they walk through and ask questions.
Submission Requirements:

- Researcher/Presenter contact information
- Poster session title
- Brief abstract describing the poster
- Methods or approaches used
- Findings or Results

Please direct all questions to Daphne Littlebear at workshops@niea.org.

Notifications will be e-mailed to all presenters no later than April 30, 2024. If accepted, registration for Convention is required for research and poster presentations.
