Auburn Symphony Orchestra announces its sixth-annual Sunsets at Mary Olson Farm, an outdoor summer music series at the beautiful and historic Mary Olson Farm. Enjoy the intimate chamber music experience in the sunshine with the farm’s majestic scenery, gardens, buildings and farm animals.

Each concert is comprised of different musicians and instruments. Bernstein, Butler & Brass on July 5 features Pacific Coast Brass, playing an assortment of brilliant brass arrangements including works from John Philip Sousa and Leonard Bernstein’s iconic ‘West Side Story Suite.’ Summer Dreams on July 19 features the Seattle-based St. Helens String Quartet, performing gems from their recently-released CD, with commentary by Seattle Symphony violinist Steve Bryant. Hot Air Bassoons on August 2 features the Gas Works Winds Bassoon Quartet, led by ASO principal bassoonist Mona Butler, delighting audiences with popular favorites including ‘Lady Gaga Saga’, ‘I Was a Teenage Bassoon Player,’ and ‘Bassoonicana – A Medley of American Songs.’

Concerts begin at 7 p.m. White River Valley Historical Museum docents will give tours of the farm, including the fully-restored house and barn, beginning at 6 p.m. and also during intermission. A shuttle will transport people to and from the parking lot from 6 p.m. until the concert start time and also after the conclusion of the concert. Wine will be available for purchase. Concerts at Mary Olson Farm are festival seating with poor wheelchair and walker access. No dogs will be permitted on premises. Sunsets at Mary Olson Farm is made possible with support from White River Valley Historical Museum and City of Auburn.
