Hō-based garments (Hōeki no hō)

There are two numbers on the fabric layouts. The larger number is the size that the piece is cut to. The smaller number is the final size of the piece, with seams (and any folds) in place.

Note that the hō is open under the sleeve for about 8-10" down the side of the body.