

Recovery Housing in Missouri

Program Overview

The Missouri Coalition of Recovery Support Providers (MCRSP) ensures quality recovery housing through implementation of standards established by the National Alliance of Recovery Residences (NARR). In addition to serving as Missouri's NARR-accrediting body, MCRSP collaborates with the Missouri Department of Mental Health (MODMH) and the State Targeted/State Opioid Response Grants (STR/SOR) to assist recovery homes in becoming accepting of medications for addiction treatment (MAT) and trained in overdose response and naloxone administration.

What is Recovery Housing?

Recovery houses are safe, healthy, family-like substance-free living environments that support individuals in recovery from substance use.

Missouri Profile

The majority of houses are in the St. Louis area; the rest are distributed across Kansas City, Springfield, & Southeast Missouri.

All NARR-accredited houses work to create a homelike environment for residents

In 2019, 371,000 individuals of Missouri's population had a substance use disorder*.
