Welcome Pack
for new residents in Compton

Produced by Compton Village Association

April 2017
Welcome to Compton

This folder contains brief details of the various organisations, facilities and amenities in the village.

This is only a “snapshot” of the current situation. Details will change with time and you are recommended to keep up to date by referring to the Compton Village website, www.compton-surrey.co.uk, which is regularly updated and contains more extensive information about the village.

If you would like to participate in village activities, the best way is to offer to help on one – or more – of the various committees, details of which are all in this folder.

We hope you will enjoy life in Compton and look forward to meeting you.
COMPTON VILLAGE ASSOCIATION

Compton Village Association (CVA) has been in existence for over 35 years. The objectives included in its Constitution are to promote and encourage social functions for the benefit of residents living in Compton and to organise fundraising events to assist in the provision and continuance of local amenities.

It is without political and religious affiliations.

The CVA is very active and is involved in the following activities:

- It runs social events in the Village Hall and the annual VILLAGE FETE, which is held each year in May. This is the biggest fund-raising event of the year in Compton and the net proceeds of the Fete are allocated to local causes. Monies raised routinely support the local Allotments, the Compton NEWS, the Village Hall, St Nicholas Church and the Compton Club. It also makes an allocation to a local charity.

- The CVA organises the regular shopping run to Godalming every Tuesday in the village minibus, Compo.

- The CVA publishes a monthly newsletter, Compton NEWS, which is distributed free to every property in Compton Parish and also Littleton village, together with an annual Guide to Local Organisations and Services for Compton Village. The CVA also publishes this Welcome Pack for newcomers to the Parish.

The current CVA committee:

- Ken Miller – Chairman
- David Hunt - Treasurer
- Jane Turner - Secretary
- Margaret Arnold

PAINTING CLASSES IN COMPTON

If you are interested in improving your skills in Watercolour painting, or if you are a beginner, there are a few places available in the Thursday morning classes held at the Old Barn, South Cottage, opposite the Parish Church.

Help is available in a variety of subjects through demonstration and tuition by David Crick, an experienced artist, exhibiting member of Guildford Art Society and President of Molesey Society.

The sessions are from 10am to 12.30pm and the charge is £7.00 per session, including coffee.

Off-road parking is available behind the Barn.

Call David on 01483 810532 if interested.
COMPTON VILLAGE FETE

Compton Fete takes place in May every year on the Village Green in the centre of the village and is very much a village enterprise. All the money raised goes towards village projects and organisations – the Village Hall, the village Newsletter, the Allotment Society, the Village Club, the Church. A donation to a local charity is also made every year. It is a community effort which brings together the whole village and over the years has become known as one of very few truly village Fetes in the area.

There are traditional stalls such as Bric-a-Brac, Cakes, Plants, Books & Music, Tombola, Children’s items, Barbecue, Beer Tent & Pimms Tent, Teas & Ice Creams.

And then there are sideshows and amusements such as Hoop-La, Coconut Shy, Face Painting, Pick-a-Card, Bouncy Castle, Children’s Races, Dog Races and Punch & Judy. Juggling Jake entertains the children and there is often a display of farm animals and pets.

The Grand Draw is hugely popular and tickets are sold far and wide. The Silent Auction always has interesting and valuable items.

The Fete in 2012 had a Jubilee theme with the appearance of a Very Special Visitor!

Help is needed to run stalls and sideshows, and particularly on the day itself, to set up in the morning and take down in the evening.

This is a great way for newcomers to the village to get to know their neighbours. Extra help is always needed so if you would like to be involved or give a hand, please contact Peter Barnett on 01483 419601.

The 2017 Fete will be on Saturday 13th May from 12 noon to 4.30pm.

THE VILLAGE HALL

Compton Village hall was built in 1934 on land purchased for £50 from the Friary brewery. The foundation stone was laid by Mary Watts (see Watts Gallery). It was built to provide “for the purposes of physical and moral recreation and intellectual development……for the benefit of the inhabitants of the Parish of Compton”.

Today the Village Hall is a well maintained, licenced, traditional hall with several regular hirers and a long list of occasional hirers. It is run by an enthusiastic Management Committee, comprising a Chairperson, Secretary, Treasurer and Bookings Secretary, as well as representatives of the regular hirers. The Committee meets six times a year to ensure the smooth running and good maintenance of the Hall.

There is a large main hall, which will accommodate 80 people at tables, 120 people seated theatre-style, or around 200 standing. It has a solid wooden floor and is attractively decorated by overhead or dimmer-controlled wall lights. There is also a good size stage with curtains. There is a meeting room at the back of the stage which can be hired separately for small meetings of 12 -15 people.

Other users of the Hall include Alcoholics Anonymous, Compton Village Association and Guildford Borough Council as a Polling Station. It is used for many other functions such as art exhibitions, Roadshows, band rehearsals, quiz nights and jumble sales. It is a great venue for that special occasion such as golden wedding parties, 40th/50th/60th birthday parties, as well as wedding receptions. The Hall is the perfect location for children’s parties, being large enough to accommodate a bouncy castle. It is available for day-time as well as eveninghirings and there is a discount for regular hirers, as well as Compton residents.

The modern kitchen is fully equipped with everything except glasses and the Hall has plenty of tables and chairs, all included in the hiring charge. The Hall underwent a complete redecoration, inside and out, during 2014.

Better known as CLT, Compton Little Theatre invites you to be part of its productions and take a break from the pressures of life by sharing in the fun of drama, music and comedy.

CLT describes itself as 'The epitome of English village culture. A social group with a slightly eccentric community-based activity that binds us together. We are an amateur dramatic society established in 1982 for the enjoyment of the people of the village of Compton'.

They pride themselves on the quality of their performances, the friendliness of the group and the desire to evolve by taking on board new ideas.

CLT are always on the lookout for the next Director, Stage Manager, Front of House Helper, Craftsman or Seamstress... or even Actor. With such a thriving group it is important to welcome new people with their ideas. Providing an outlet for creative urges in a sympathetic and supportive environment provides an essential recreation in the true sense of the word and the pleasure brought to the audiences provides a higher level of reward.

If taking part is not for you, then do go and see the productions, which receive fantastic reviews, year after year. There are usually three performances each year – a Pantomime or Musical in January, a straight play in June, and usually a comedy or two short plays in October, served with dinner, known as 'Dinner & Drama'. All performances are in Compton Village Hall. Over the years CLT has invested in enhancing the facilities in the Hall to improve the quality of their productions. The Hall even boasts a splendid bank of raked seats to improve the seating.

Look up the website on www.comptonlittletheatre.org.uk or contact the Chairman, Stephen Pugh, on 07824 652178, email info@comptonlittletheatre.org.uk.

CLT is a member of NODA (National Operatic & Dramatic Association) and GATA (Guildford Amateur Dramatic Association).

- Watts Cemetery
- The Allotments

The Agenda and Minutes are also displayed on the village noticeboard in the Street, alongside Old Barn Antiques, and opposite the path to the Church.
St NICHOLAS CHURCH

Compton was one of the villages that pilgrims passed through on their way to Canterbury. St Nicholas Church bears witness to them and to the many thousands of visitors and worshippers who have come here for over a thousand years.

The site of St Nicholas Church pre-dates Saxon times. It has Saxon origins and is mentioned in the 'Domesday Book'. Lady Boston in her publication, History of Compton, reveals that the church is in fact 500 years older than the oldest houses in Compton. It is Grade I* listed and mentioned by Nikolaus Pevsner in his book Buildings of England, Surrey.

Inside the church we see Norman pillars and beautiful arches carved from chalk found on the Hog's Back. During this period, the roof would have been thatched, the floor probably earth and candles the only source of light. This sounds rather austere until we remember that the houses of the same period were wooden huts and were probably just as plain and cold.

The square tower dates from Saxon times and has fragments of Roman tiles in its construction. The single-handed clock from 1688 and is still wound up manually each week.

In 1929 a square window to a cell was discovered in the North wall of the chancel, which would have been home to an 'Anchorite' or 'Hermit'. An Anchorite or Anchoress would have voluntarily lived within this confined space from the date of their incarceration to their death, being fed through a small gap and eventually buried there too (often underneath the cell itself). The Anchorite spent most of his or her life in prayer and became a valuable source of spiritual guidance for villagers.

A later 'anchorhold' was built on the south side of the chancel and is there for all to see, with its medieval graffiti and worn-down prayer shelf. A staircase inside the anchor hold leads to the unusual upper sanctuary. This 'upstairs altar' is unique in this country; its purpose is not known. The wooden balustrade in front of the sanctuary is one of the earlier pieces of Norman woodwork, cut from a single very large plank.

The figure of a Knight is scratched on the chancel arch. This could have been made by a Knight of the village, before leaving on a crusade in the 12th century. This image has been adopted as the village logo.

The ‘Scratch’ sun dial – or mass dial - on the south wall was also found in 1929, having been hidden for many centuries. The shadow of a gnomon, or stick, represents the times of the ancient services of mass.

A new organ was commissioned and built in the 1990s. The tower has six bells and a small team of enthusiastic bell ringers, who are always glad to hear from experienced ringers or those wishing to 'learn the ropes'. Bell ringing practice is held every Tuesday from 8pm. Contact the Bell Captain – see below.

St Nicholas is open every day from 10am to dusk. More details about its history can be found in a booklet available in the church itself.

There is a range of services during the month. Please see the website (details below) or the Parish Magazine. There is usually coffee after the main Sunday morning service and also a lunch during Lent and a Harvest Supper. The choir always welcomes new singers and there is a great team of flower arrangers! There are many social activities during the year, at which everyone is welcome.

Described as ‘a national gallery in the heart of a village’, Watts Gallery was first opened to the public on 1 April 1904 as a permanent exhibition devoted to the art of G.F. Watts and is unique in being the only purpose-built art gallery to exhibit a single professional artist’s collection. It is an early example of an Arts & Crafts building and one of the first to be built in solid concrete. It is listed Grade II* and was built not only as a Gallery but also to serve as a hostel for apprentice potters working at the pottery founded by Watts’s wife, Mary Seton Watts, who designed the Watts Cemetery Chapel close by in Down Lane (see separate entry).

The English symbolist painter and sculptor George Frederic Watts (1817-1904) lived in Compton during the latter years of his life. He occupies a unique place in the history of British painting and in his own lifetime was widely considered to be the greatest painter of the Victorian age. He was an outstanding portraitist, sculptor, landscape painter and symbolist and became the first living artist to have a solo exhibition at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York. The Tate Gallery retained a room dedicated to Watts until 1938 and today the artist’s Hall of Fame series – portraits of the most eminent Victorians – continues to be on permanent display at the National Portrait Gallery. Famous as a painter and sculptor, he gained the nickname of ‘England’s Michelangelo’.

But as all things Victorian fell out of favour during the middle of the 20th Century, the years took their toll on Watts Gallery until finally it was placed on the English Heritage At Risk Register. Its woeful plight came to public attention when it narrowly missed out on winning the final of BBC Restoration Village in 2006.

Galvanised by the enormous show of public support, Watts Gallery went on to secure a £4.9m lifeline from Heritage Lottery Fund, along with donations from many generous trusts, foundations and individual donors. It closed in September 2008 to embark on a much-needed restoration and re-opened to the public in June 2011. New gallery spaces permit interesting temporary exhibitions to be held three or four times a year.

Guided tours of the Gallery can be booked by calling 01483 813589, groups@wattsgallery.org.uk.

The Gallery is open Tuesday to Sunday 11am to 5pm. It is closed on Mondays (except Bank Holidays), Christmas Day, Boxing Day and New Year’s Day.

WATTS CEMETERY CHAPEL, Down Lane

By 1894, no further burial space was available in the small cemetery attached to St Nicholas church so in 1895 the Parish Council purchased land from the Loseley Estate for a new cemetery. Later that year, G F Watts and his wife Mary offered to design and build, at their own expense, a Chapel in keeping with the site. This extraordinary Grade I listed circular building is a unique fusion of art nouveau, Celtic, Romanesque and Egyptian influence, with Mary’s own original style.

Mary encouraged all from the village, whatever their social status, to come up to their house, Limnerslease (see separate entry), for instruction in clay modelling. All were welcome, from the local Lady of the Manor to her farm boys. The clay came from a seam that was discovered in the grounds of their house, apparently not unusual for this area.

The first clay modelling class took place at Limnerslease on Thursday 14 November 1895. After a few weeks of learning how to handle clay and modelling simple decorations, they would begin to make clay tiles from the plates Mary had prepared.

The exterior of the Chapel was completed in 1898 and consecrated by the Bishop of Winchester on 1st July that year.

In 1901, decorations for the Chapel interior were begun under Mary’s guidance in the Studio at Limnerslease. Mary and her assistants modelled and painted the stunning interior, its patterns modelled in gesso – felt dipped in a mixture of plaster and glue - finally completing it in 1904. G F Watts painted a version of The All-Pervading for the altar only three months before he died in July that year.

The Chapel is open every day between approximately 9am and 5pm, later in the summer months. It is owned by the Parish Council and maintained by the Watts Gallery. Admission is free, although donations are welcomed.

The standard of craftsmanship in the design of the Chapel was such that, after the exterior was completed, Mary’s amateur Terra Cotta Home Arts evening class was able to turn professional as the Compton Potters’ Arts Guild. The Guild became a limited company, Compton Pottery, and continued to produce works based on Mary Watts’s designs long after her death in 1938. Compton Pottery finally closed in 1956, 61 years after Mary’s first clay-modelling class. The Pottery buildings now comprise the Visitor Centre, Shop, Tea Shop and the Watts Contemporary Gallery where temporary exhibitions highlight the work of present-day artists in many fields and where the work is for sale.
Limnerslease was the home in the village of G.F. Watts and his wife Mary. Watts and Mary were married in 1886 and while spending the winter of 1888-89 with their friends Andrew and May Hichens at Monkshatch on the Hog’s Back, they decided to build their own house and studio in the Surrey countryside. They commissioned Ernest George, the eminent Arts & Crafts architect, to design the house for them and it was completed in 1891, when Watts was 74. It was intended originally as a winter retreat, secondary to their London residence, but in the last years of Watts’s life and the first years of the 20th century, they spent more time there.

The house consisted of the Studio Wing at the east end, their private accommodation and visitors’ bedrooms in the centre, and the servants’ wing at the west end, with the servants’ bedrooms on the top floor.

The 1901 census listed all the estate buildings, consisting of the main house, stables and two garden cottages. In later years, the Watts purchased a farm to the north of the house, Down Farm, primarily to convert a barn into a sculpture studio where Watts created his giant statue of Alfred Lord Tennyson, the cast for which is displayed in the Watts Gallery.

After Watts died in July 1904 aged 87, Mary made Limnerslease her principal residence. The house became a shrine for art lovers and journalists and remained part of Watts Gallery until the death of Mary in 1938, aged 89. After her death, the contents were sold, including the library and small paintings, and the house was handed to the Watts Gallery Trust. War broke out in 1939 and the house was requisitioned by the Ministry of Defence and rented to Ardent, who produced radar and sonar navigational equipment for the Navy.

After the war, the house was sold (in 1952), first to a businessman from Guildford and then to the sculptor Estcourt James Clack. After Clack’s ownership, it was divided and sold in three separate parts. It remained as three separate dwellings until 2007 when two parts were combined. In approximately 2012, both parts came on the open market at the same time and Watts Gallery were fortunate to be able to acquire the house with the help of generous lenders who secured the house for the Watts Gallery Trust and were eventually paid back.

Work started in January 2015 to restore the Studio wing, recreating Watts’s Studio and providing two additional galleries, one of which is dedicated to the work of Mary Watts. This was opened to the public in January 2016.

It is not possible to visit the rest of Limnerslease unaccompanied but public tours to the centre portion, which comprises the Watts’s private accommodation and Mary’s unique gesso ceilings, are held every day and twice on Tuesday and Saturday, lasting 1 hour, cost £5. It is wise to book in advance at www.wattsgallery.org.uk. Tours start at the Visitor Centre.

COMPTON CLUB

The Compton Club was formerly the Compton Village RBL Club. Although now disaffiliated from The Royal British Legion, Compton Branch has its office in the club and still raises funds for the RBL Poppy Appeal during the year.

The Club was gifted to the residents of Compton in the late 1920s by the then owners of two local estates, Eastbury Manor and Field Place.

In 2009 it was rebuilt to a very high specification providing bright, modern facilities, which include a very large bar area, a full size snooker table, two pool tables and darts area. The Club also has a large function room, with patio doors overlooking the village green and separated from the main club by soundproof sliding doors. For events requiring a lot of space, the function room can be used as an integral part of the main club.

It provides great social indoor sports and function facilities for members and guests. The Club boasts an impressive sporting tradition, with many trophies for Bowls, Darts, Snooker and inter-village Games. It is run by its members, for its members, and strives to provide a warm, friendly and relaxing atmosphere, as well as encouraging competition between itself and other clubs in the surrounding area.

BT sport has recently been installed.

Classes held at the club during the week include, Ballroom and Latin American Dancing on Wednesday evenings with Pilates and Yoga classes held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday mornings. Details of these classes can be obtained from the Club itself.

Events are posted on the Compton Village Website and in the Compton NEWS. Regular events are Bingo, discos, race nights and Friday folk evenings.

Membership is open to residents and non-residents of Compton Village and is renewable at the beginning of October each year. There are three options:

THE WITHIES INN, Withies Lane

Always busy, this popular 16th century pub boasts attractive low beams and an eclectic interior which add to an atmosphere which is relaxed, informal and individual. Among the unusual features are some fine 17th century carved panels between the windows, and a splendid art nouveau settle among the old sewing-machine tables. You’ll find a good log fire in a massive inglenook fireplace.

They do good straightforward pubby bar food such as homemade soup, filled baked potatoes, smoked salmon paté, delicious sandwiches, ploughman’s, Cumberland sausages, fish & chips, seafood platter. The restaurant is more formal with an elaborate menu, and is very popular with the locals and other long-standing customers from further afield. Even when it’s busy, the pleasant uniformed staff remain helpful and efficient.

Hog’s Back TEA, Greene King IPA, Adnams and Doom Bar are well kept on the handpump.

PUTTENHAM AND WANBOROUGH HISTORY SOCIETY

Patrick Yarnold, Chairman – 01483 810564
Margaret Saunders, Secretary/Treasurer – 01483 810575
Evelyn Gaff, Outings – 01483 810388

The Society was formed in 1967 by a group of local people. At their first meeting on 7th July 1967, it was proposed that the objectives of the Society should be “To promote and encourage the study, the preservation and the recording of the past and present history of the parishes of Puttenham and Wanborough.”

The Society grew, meetings and exhibitions were held in Puttenham Village Hall (the Marwick Hall) and outings were arranged.

The Society regularly publishes papers on local research and books, including:

Puttenham under the Hog’s Back by Ruth Dugmore in 1972
Wanborough by Gillian Drew
Puttenham and Wanborough. The Past in Pictures by Margaret Saunders in 2000
Wanborough Manor – School for Secret Agents by Patrick Yarnold in 2009

Meetings are held on the last Friday of the month in January, February, March, October and November, with outings arranged in June or July and in early Autumn. Exhibitions are held at intervals in the Marwick Hall, usually in the Spring.

Annual Subscription: £5 per family, payable by October.
Compton residents are very welcome to join the Society
