Our art classes each have recommended age ranges that are specified on our website. Our teachers are volunteers and all of our classes are free. In lieu of paying our teachers, we ask that our students donate to the CDC to help fight COVID-19 (though no donation is required to take lessons). If a student cannot afford an instrument, they can apply for one through our instrument donation program. We believe in the power of music to connect and bring joy to people around the world, especially in these hard times.
