Adult Day Health opportunity

Sue stated that she and Pauline had spoken on the phone about the possibility of Skagit Adult Day Program (SADP) expanding into Whatcom County.

Pauline shared that SADP started in 1992, and now has two sites – one in Burlington (Bradford House), and one in Anacortes (Gentry House). There about 120 clients total, with different people participating on different days. Bradford House serves about 22 clients per day; Gentry House serves about 10 people per day.

Since the closure of the Adult Day Health Program in Whatcom County in August 2018, Pauline has been meeting with families who participated in that program, and had heard from them how important it was for them and the need for something similar to be available.

The SADP Board has had some discussion about expanding, possibly to the Stanwood-Camano Island area. However, they are now considering Whatcom County. The biggest need is a physical space of about 3,000 square feet; SADP has the ability to renovate. The program would only operate Mon-Fri.

Aging Well members suggested churches as a possibility, as well as the now vacant Public Market (previously Terra Organica) on Cornwall Ave. Sue stated that the Whatcom Community Foundation has been involved with considering how that space could be used creatively; Sue with talk with them about this opportunity.

Tonja and Pauline clarified differences between Adult Day Programs and Adult Day Health Programs:

- Adult Day Programs may have RN and OT as consultants, but not as full-time staff. For example, SADP provides space for on-site health services, but the health care providers are from other organizations or agencies. [DSHS?] conducts annual program reviews.
- In contrast, Adult Day Health Programs are required to have a full-time RN and OT (or OT assistant) on staff. [DSHS?] conducts quarterly program reviews.
- The Adult Day Health model of having integrated health services integrated beneficial to the participants, but it’s significantly more expensive to operate and generally not a viable business model. This financial reality is not just in Whatcom and Skagit counties; Adult Day Health programs across the country are struggling.

ACTION ITEM → Pauline will create a summary of the desired features of a space for Whatcom County and Sue will distribute to the group.

Blueprint discussion

Lara shared information via PowerPoint on basic blueprint structure, and examples of blueprints related to healthy aging developed by other communities.

ACTION ITEM → Lara will send out the PPT with blueprint examples to the full group.

ACTION ITEM → Members will review and send comments regarding which examples (or elements of the examples) they like and/or think would work well for Aging Well; Lara will summarize for the next meeting.
ACTION ITEM ➔ Lara will send out assessment findings for members to review prior to the next meeting.

Ying asked about the products the group is working toward, and the timeline. Lara said that Based on the group’s decision several meetings ago, the goal is to define the “buckets” of Blueprint priority areas this Fall; however, completing this by December is more realistic.
