#ACTFORART

THE ARTS ARE CRITICAL TO PORTLAND’S FUTURE

WHAT CAN YOU DO TO SUPPORT THE ARTS IN PORTLAND, OREGON?

#ACTforART is a city-wide art action that features the work of twelve Oregon artists throughout Portland's public spaces. Converge 45 conceived the project as a series of commissioned posters that share each artist's vision with residents and visitors alike during this unprecedented moment when indoor art experiences are severely limited by the pandemic. This is in lieu of Converge 45’s traditional annual program of hosting significant exhibitions and gatherings to experience regional and national art.
and we encourage others to capture their sightings and share with their networks of colleagues and friends. Tag us in your social media spottings!

HERE ARE SOME WAYS YOU CAN #ACTFORART:

SEEK OPPORTUNITIES FOR THE ARTS
...by telling your elected officials we must increase public support for the arts immediately. Ask your representatives to #ActForArt, get out there and vote, and spread the word that the arts need support!

STAY INFORMED
...support the arts by visiting exhibitions and attending online talks at institutions such as the Portland Art Museum and the Pacific Northwest College of Art. Follow regional art spaces on Instagram. Sign up for newsletters from Portland art galleries (PADA).

MAKE A DONATION
...to the critical institutions that have survived underfunded for too long, such as the Portland...
BUY ART
The best way to support an artist is to buy their art. You can also support the arts by buying a membership to the Portland Art Museum and purchasing tickets to live or virtual events. Don’t forget to bring a friend!

As we rebuild the economy, we must consider our role as individuals and civic leaders in maintaining a network of art institutions, schools, studio spaces, and critical platforms that are accessible to all Portlanders. Click here to learn more about how you can #ActForArt:
