Cascade AIDS Project
Public Policy & Advocacy Program
Conflict of Interest Statement

Cascade AIDS Project (CAP) determines the positions and activities of its Public Policy & Advocacy (PP&A) program without regard for the interests of the program’s direct and indirect funding sources. PP&A is funded with general operating dollars allocated to the program by CAP’s chief executive officer and board, as well as contributions restricted for use on the program by the donor. Restricted contributions come from a variety of types of donors, including nonprofit organizations, foundations, and businesses. CAP requires all donors that make contributions restricted for use on PP&A to acknowledge that they will not receive any consideration in return for their contribution by signing a copy of this conflict-of-interest statement.

CAP accepts funding from pharmaceutical manufacturers, just as we accept funding from non-pharmaceutical businesses, government agencies, nonprofit organizations, individuals, and other sources that have special interests. We apply the policy laid out above to pharmaceutical manufacturers in the exact same way we apply it to other funding sources. We believe that it is appropriate for pharmaceutical manufacturers, many of whom have profited tremendously from people living with or at risk of HIV, to contribute a portion of those profits to organizations and programs benefiting those populations.
