Any source component that costs a five figure sum had better be pretty special, and this record player from Vertere Acoustics is an extraordinarily gifted conveyor of music – not just the right notes in the right order but the very soul of it. If vinyl replay is important to you and you have the financial means, these components make a very compelling case for themselves. Brilliantly conceived by the fertile mind of Touraj Mogahddam, the sheer musicality of this system would be hard to better at any price. MG stands for Magic Groove and this system more than fulfils that promise.
