CONGRATULATIONS TO KING WILLIAM GRADUATES!

King William’s Class Of 2020
Maria Pfeiffer

Banners and flags celebrating holidays and family milestones have provided cheerful notes as we drive through the neighborhood during this uncertain time. We are happy to report that King William is home to a great group of Spring graduates! Join us in giving these grads a big shout out! Apologies to those we might have missed. If there are others to be added, drop a note to info@ourkwa.org and we will include them in the next newsletter.

Meet our graduates, listed in alphabetical order:

President’s Message:

John Doski

“As far as the laws of mathematics refer to reality, they are not certain; and as far as they are certain, they do not refer to reality.” - Albert Einstein

Summer heat has returned, yards are blooming, we walk around the neighborhood, and we are all still here. Huh. But there can be no doubt we are living in the most extraordinary of times.

We become accustomed to the unusual and unbelievable, are quieted by striking images of desperation and suffering, and inured of initial risk and fear. And as we are now three months into this new reality, we really want to return to all the activities we used to take for granted. But we can’t. Diligent committee reports, frequent press conferences, and multiple levels of government orchestrate plans complicated with detail and with elaborate timetables. And with all of this said, my unifying thought is of uncertainty. For our nation, for its citizens, for its way of life, and coming back down to ground level, the King William Association.

The King William Association has grown with the city, and recently has become energized within an inner city resurgence. We have been able to leverage participation with the King William Fair into a broader appreciation of our history, significant support of neighborhood interests, and a strong, reliable voice in community and city affairs. With this pandemic, the Fair has been delayed with decision by Labor Day for a 2020 cancelation still possible. We have worked hard to maintain some social activities, with our abbreviated King William parade and the Cultural Arts virtual concert. We work to advance the goals of the association with Zoom meetings of the AAC, finance committee, and the Board of Directors. We have been aided by Federal payroll support and are using that support with maximum effort in getting lots of long-needed projects and processes completed.

But as this support will draw down, we are faced with significant uncertainty. We are financially sound but are not positioned to maintain business as usual for the long term. This could include potential significant impact on office staff. This will include Cultural Arts District redirection with emphasis on reduced expenditures. This will certainly include Board of Directors deliberations on the planned 2020 King William Home Tour, the sidewalks program, and extent of the King William Grants program. Nothing is off the table. And while I really want to have our Fourth of July gathering, Lisa is realistically planning a safer King William Regatta with Marita, and will likely be without a large gathering. In this context, I ask all of you to consider how we can best maintain and move forward. And I may ask for more direct assistance from you should the challenges become greater.

“The dogmas of the quiet past are inadequate to the stormy present. The occasion is piled high with difficulty, and we must rise with the occasion.” - Abraham Lincoln •

Board Briefs:

The board met on May 13, 2020, via Zoom conference as permitted by the bylaws. Both the pop-up parade and concert on Facebook Live were well received, reaching thousands via social media. The board continued to discuss changes in office operations and Fair management in light of the COVID-19 situation, and the board anticipates making decisions regarding operations and programming in June. The board previously authorized Lisa to apply for a loan/grant under the CARES Act, which was received. “Board briefs” are not intended to replace the official minutes of the Association but to summarize the board’s latest activities. •
It’s hard for me to believe it has almost been a year since I moved to San Antonio to work with The King William Association. How can that possibly be? Susan only got here a few months ago, and since then we’ve been living in these surreal COVID-19 times. I’ve done more exploring of San Antonio in these last three months than I did the first nine I was here. But my exploring has been more drive-by in nature, so it still feels like most of San Antonio remains a bit of a mystery to me.

As I reflect on what brought me to San Antonio and to King William, I’m reminded of the Rivard Report “Where I live” series. I know what brought me to King William, but I would love to hear from more of you! So, my letter is short this month. Instead, I would like a letter back from each of you. Please email me and tell me what brought you to King William and what you like about living here. Then, in July, we will publish a few excerpts from the letters. Names willingly withheld if preferred!

My email address is director@ourkwa.org.

I’m looking forward to hearing from you!

We wish all our neighborhood graduates great success and know they have a bright future!
Most historic houses in King William are known by the name of the first owner – the builder of the house. Sometimes, that owner might have lived in the house only a short time before moving on. A subsequent owner often established roots leaving a legacy far exceeding that of the house’s builder. Such is the case with “The Kalteyer House” at 425 King William.

A chance meeting with a tourist from Minneapolis has yielded a wealth of neighborhood history and photos. Chuck Gribble and his wife were in San Antonio to visit ancestral sites, one being the house at 425 King William Street where Chuck’s grandmother, Paula Seeling Pardo, once lived. Chuck’s great-grandfather, Ed Seeling, bought the house in 1907.

George Kalteyer, who built the house in 1891, died six years later in 1897 at age 48. His widow, Johanna, wanting a smaller residence, built the house at 332 King William in 1907 and sold 425 King William to Ed Seeling. Seeling and his family lived in the house for the next 35 years.

Ed Seeling was 21 years old in 1872 when he boarded the ship Weser in Hamburg bound for New York City. After making his way to Del Valle, now a suburb of Austin, Seeling started a general store and cotton gin, eventually moving into real estate. In 1884, Ed married Clara Schuhmann, who was born in Fayette County, Texas, of German immigrant parents. Ed and Clara had three daughters: Ella, Paula and Clara.

In 1903, Seeling’s fortunes were such that he was able to purchase the famous Driskill Hotel in Austin for a bargain price of $80,000. Just four years later, in 1907, he sold the hotel for $100,000. With the profits, he purchased the substantial home at 425 King William Street, the most fashionable residential neighborhood in San Antonio at the time. Over the next several years, all three Seeling daughters were married on the verandah of 425 King William Street.

After moving to San Antonio, Seeling continued his real estate ventures, notably, Parkview Estates near Bandera and St. Cloud. Today there is a Summer brings hot weather, which brings insects that consider garden plants a salad. I seem to have few bug problems in my garden and I think that is partly due to the birds that come to a feeder and birdbath in the garden. A feeder can be just a shallow pan sitting on some sort of pedestal and a birdbath can be merely a nearby bucket of water. Put both near a shrub or low-hanging tree to give the birds protection as they fly in. I find that sunflower seeds from the grocery attract an assortment of birds. A squirrel or two also seem to be attracted.

A good, low-maintenance way to add color to the garden is to plant trees that bloom. One such plant is Vitex or Chaste Tree. Many grandmothers simply refer to it as Lavender Tree, which is the common color of its blooms, although there is a white variety that is hard to find. It is drought tolerant and has few or no insect problems. It is also deciduous, that is it loses its leaves in winter. It can grow to 20 feet tall and wide and multi-trunk plants can resemble an umbrella. Two examples currently in bloom are in the front gardens at 609 and 631 E. Guenther. Pictures and growing information can be found at dirtdoctor.com/dirtdoctor-library topics under the name Vitex.

In the April 2020 SAWS newsletter, an extension to October 16, 2020, was announced for the SAWS WaterSaver Coupons Program. The program provides residential water customers up to four $100 coupons to help replace part of lawns with colorful, drought-hardy plants and patio pavers. For details and to apply, go to GardenStyleSA.com/coupons.

Mildew on roses is a common problem. Stop its spread by spraying plants weekly with diluted skim milk (one part skim milk to nine parts water). It will not remove mildew already on the leaves but will prevent it from starting to new growth.

Cut back spent rose flowers to encourage new growth and new flowers. Cut stems down to a spot just above the lowest five-leaflet leaf.

Garden Note:
Real gardeners buy at least ten-thousand plants in the course of a lifetime without having the least idea of where they will put any of them when they get them home.
When I was in grade school, we lived in deep East Texas in Daingerfield. My mother was very involved in the PTA at our school. We were also involved in Camp Fire Girls. I think my mom got this recipe from a PTA mom or Camp Fire Girls mom. Anyway, it became a family favorite because it is easy, cheap, and delicious! I think the title refers to hobos cooking everything in one pot over a campfire.

I decided to give you another family dinner favorite since the kiddos are still home and you have to feed them three times a day! Enjoy!

- 2 pounds ground beef
- 1 cup finely chopped onion
- 1 cup rice
- 1 garlic clove, minced
- 2½ cups tomato juice
- ½ cup water
- Tabasco sauce, to taste
- 3 tablespoons steak sauce
- Worcestershire or A1
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- 1 bell pepper sliced crosswise

I will give you the recipe for Hobo Rice.

HOBO RICE

Sear the ground beef in a large skillet. Add the onion and sear until softened. Add the rice and sear until slightly browned. Add the garlic and sear until fragrant, about one minute.

Mix the rest of the ingredients and pour over the mixture in the skillet. Top with green pepper slices.

Cover and cook over low heat for 30 minutes.

Wine Pairing for Hobo Rice

Susan Greenholdt

Hello, everyone! So the dish today is Hobo Rice. Great idea! Perfect comfort food when we need a little comforting.

The ingredients that stand out to me are the hamburger and tomato. However, the raw green pepper slices especially stand out as a fresh and slightly bitter flavor to brighten up this rich dish. I believe I’ve thought of a great wine that will work with this combo of flavors:

2017 Decoy, Cabernet Sauvignon, Sonoma County, California

Decoy is made by Duckhorn Winery. Duckhorn is known as one of the most respected wineries in California. Many of the wines are between $50 to $100 a bottle. What I like about Decoy besides the clever name is that it is considered a “value” wine but with all the same quality standards of Duckhorn.

I purchased Decoy at Hargrove’s Fine Wine & Spirits at 4007 Broadway for $18.99. This is a medium to full body Cabernet with a lot of berries on the nose; mostly dark like black cherry and blackberry. The wine is oaked for 10 months in French and American oak. The earthy quality is more subtle but not overpowered by the fruit. On the palate, there is a hint of green pepper, how advantageous! I really liked this wine and hope you enjoy. •

FUN SIDE NOTE: Some etymologists think that the term Hobo came from the abbreviation “homeward bound” which I find ironic in our new COVID world.

Cheers!

King William’s Bookmark

An at-home book escape presented by the King William-ish Book Club.

The King William-ish Book Club is a “neighborhood” club of readers that started in 2015, founded by the King William Fair Chair, Annice Hill. This club originally touted their name as the King William Book Club, but this group of ladies quickly grew. The new members included women who supported our neighborhood but did not live within the boundaries of King William, so the club’s name evolved to the King William-ish Book Club.

We are excited to announce the inclusion of a new column in the King William Association Newsletter that will feature a book review presented by a King William-ish Book Club member. Margaret Leeds, who also serves on the King William Association Board of Directors, presents this month’s book review.

If you are interested in joining this group of vivacious ladies, email Annice at HillA3@uthscsa.edu. The King William-ish Book Club gathers on the last Monday of every month, unless there is a holiday. In the case of COVID-19, the King William-ish Book Club is meeting by Zoom video conference.

For the month of June, the club will meet on June 22nd to discuss A Rock Between Two Rivers: The Fracturing of a Texas Family Ranch by Hugh Asa Fitzsimons III.

About This Read

Harper Collins Publishers

It is 1870 and Captain Jefferson Kyle Kidd travels through northern Texas, giving live readings to paying audiences hungry for news of the world. An elderly widower who has lived through three wars and fought in two of them, the captain enjoys his rootless, solitary existence.

In Wichita Falls, he is offered a $50 gold piece to deliver a young orphan to her relatives in San Antonio. Four years earlier, a band of Kiowa raiders killed Johanna’s parents and sister; sparing the little girl, they raised her as one of their own. Recently rescued by the U.S. army, the ten-year-old has once again been torn away from the only home she knows.

Their 400-mile journey south through unsettled territory and unforgiving terrain proves difficult and at times dangerous. Johanna has forgotten the English language, tries to escape at every opportunity, throws away her shoes, and refuses to act “civilized.” Yet as the miles pass, the two lonely survivors tentatively begin to trust each other, forging a bond that marks the difference between life and death in this treacherous land.

Arriving in San Antonio, the reunion is neither happy nor welcome. The captain must hand Johanna over to an aunt and uncle she does not remember—strangers who regard her as an unwanted burden. A respectable man, Captain Kidd is faced with a terrible choice: abandon the girl to her fate or become—in the eyes of the law—a kidnapper himself.

Exquisitely rendered and morally complex, News of the World is a brilliant work of historical fiction that explores the boundaries of family, responsibility, honor, and trust.

News of the World

Margaret Leeds

I highly recommend this rich historical fiction offering by Paulette Jiles, a local author! News of the World centers around a 70-year-old man, Captain Kidd, who carries news of the world to the people of Texas after the Civil War. He is a quiet hero entrusted with returning a 10-year-old to her family. What ensues is an exploration of the history and cultures that made Texas. The author conducted extensive research in support of the storyline. The tale rings true, but the best parts of the novel offer raw descriptions of Texas life, wry humor, prolonged suspense and moral dilemma.
NOW AVAILABLE, The Cannoli Fund for Dog and Cats’ 2020 Fiesta medals feature two animals that benefited from our free programs. Proceeds from the sale of these medals are an important source of support for our all-volunteer nonprofit’s mission of improving the lives and controlling the population of stray and owned King William and Lavaca cats and dogs. Since we founded the organization in 2011, The Cannoli Fund has provided free services to over 1,400 animals.

Archie, the dog on the 2020 Fiesta medal, is a perfect example of our neighbors banding together to help an animal in need. One neighbor found the puppy wandering the street. He stayed overnight with another, and was then fostered for a few days by a third. The dog wasn’t wearing an ID tag and wasn’t microchipped, and no owner came forward. But soon this stray puppy found a fantastic home with one of our King William neighbors. Archie is one of the most personable dogs you’ll ever meet—he loves everyone, and everyone loves him! Look for Archie on walks sporting one of his trademark bow ties. Our Save Our Strays program, which covers the unpredictable costs of rescuing a stray pet, covered his vetting, vaccinations, neuter and microchip.

The 2020 cat Fiesta Medal features a confident community cat who Lavaca neighbors named Foxy. Foxy, his siblings, and their feral mother all took our free Community Cat Carpool to be spayed or neutered, vaccinated, and ear-tipped. This outgoing orange and white guy can be found sunning himself on car hoods around his home or perhaps enjoying some attention from a passing neighbor. His caretakers participate in our Cannoli’s Kitchen program, which makes monthly deliveries of large bags of cat food to those caring for “fixed” community cat colonies.

Both medals include a colorful “Spay and Neuter Pets” lapel pin on the ribbon. Wear it year-round on your jacket or bag to help spread this important message.

Medals are for sale for $10. Visit thecannolifund.org or eBay to buy online. Retail locations will include the King William Association office, Pig Liquors, South Alamo, Alamo Dog and Cat Hospital, and others. All proceeds go to support our free programs, including: Cannolicare/SOS grants for veterinary care of stray and owned pets; Community Cat Carpool, which traps and shuttles groups of community cats to and from a spay/neuter clinic; spay/neuter reimbursement; monthly pet food delivery; neighborhood pet water bowls; and microchip scanning for found animals. For more information, visit thecannolifund.org or find us on Facebook and Instagram.

Don’t worry, the King William Cultural Arts Committee is feeling the same as you, ready to get back to our old norm. Well, maybe not the norm of having to drive to the office every day, but the old norm of enjoying the arts in person. Nothing beats gathering around the King William Park Gazebo or under the cool canopy of trees at Upper Mill Park and greeting our friends with bear hugs before sinking into our collapsible chair to sip on our favorite beverage while tapping our foot to the beat of one of the neighborhood’s favorite local bands.

Since we are unable to gather in person, we will continue to share our passion of promoting and supporting local musicians online. Let’s gather on Sunday, June 14 at 5:30 p.m., on the King William Cultural Arts District Facebook page for the second King William Concert Series of 2020. This month will feature the healing rhythms and invigorating beats of Henry Brun!

Conga dynamo Henry Brun, nicknamed “Mr. Ritmo” by his fans, lives by the authenticity, dynamics and “cadencia” of the music he plays. International recording and award-winning percussionist Henry Brun is a talented, professional musician and band leader who is excited to help our mission. Henry considers the people of King William to be a part of his extended family. Which in turns serves as a reminder for the King William Cultural Arts District not to give up during this time of isolation and continue to promote togetherness any way we can.

After last month’s virtual-style King William Concert Series, we are feeling like pros at this Facebook live feed thing. So, we encourage you to post as many comments as your heart desires during the show to help us feel as if we are still hanging out in person. Also, don’t hold back on clicking the like and love button over and over, this will help encourage Henry to continue on and can serve as a virtual applause! •

How To Watch Our Facebook Live Feed King William Concert Series:

1. LIKE the King William Cultural Arts District Facebook page.
2. Click FOLLOW on the King William Cultural Arts District Facebook page so you will be alerted when the virtual concert starts.
3. Once the concert has started, you can create a watch party to ensure your favorite neighbors and amigos are watching with you! Follow this link to start your own watch party: https://youtu.be/odfNE4YQ6L8
We are off to the start of an unusual yet hopeful summer season. While many things have changed, Blue Star Contemporary (BSC) remains committed to its mission and is preparing to open in phases. Starting on June 6, BSC will open its doors to its members, opening then to the general public on June 11. Members and visitors are welcomed back to explore BSC’s spring exhibitions which have now been extended to August 2 and include Novel Ideas, Secret Passage, Giveth and Taketh, and More Findings. Admission fees will be waived in lieu of suggested donations. We have missed seeing BSC visitors in our galleries and we hope you’ll visit us soon!

As BSC continues to prioritize the health and safety of its staff and visitors, new health protocols and procedures have been implemented and will be enforced on site. This includes an online reservation system for guests including members, face covering requirements, social distancing, and temperature checks. The number of guests allowed to visit BSC will be limited to 10 individuals at a time. BSC Staff will maintain frequent cleaning and disinfecting procedures, wear face coverings, submit to temperature checks, and will maintain social distancing.

Don’t forget you can still enjoy a wide variety of online content created and curated by BSC for our community, including a Blue Star Contemporary Coloring Book created by our MOSAIC Artist-in-Residence Alex Rubio; art-making lesson plans; Artist’s Digest video interviews with artists; virtual exhibition walkthroughs on Instagram; Storytime with artist Raul Gonzalez; an online artist resource center with grants and shelter in place resources; and more.

San Antonio area nonprofits have been hard hit by the current public health crisis. Please consider a contribution to Blue Star Contemporary and our peers during this challenging time. Thank you.

All neighbors are invited to participate in King William’s traditional July 4th celebration of our river and our passion for the offbeat. On the morning of July 4, neighbors will gather at the Nueva Street floodgates of the San Antonio River in their canoes, kayaks, paddleboats, and other floating contraptions. Some participate in the canoe race, some participate in the one-person kayak race, most just come for a leisurely paddle through our neighborhood. We are truly blessed!

Both the night when the stay-at-home order was declared and then when it was lifted, we chose to dine tableside at our “celebration” restaurant, La Focaccia. This family-owned classic Italian restaurant, founded in 1996 by Luigi and Dolores Ciccarelli, has such a special place for our family.

Every Christmas Eve dinner, post-band concert, theatre performance and dance recitals – all celebrated around a family table enjoying traditional family recipes. Some of our favorites include the classic Chicken Parmesan or Veal Piccata. However, there are a few standouts such as the Shrimp Au Gratin. I have been told that Dominic (Luigi’s son) lets the staff know an order is coming the moment we walk in the door. This piping hot dish features jumbo oven-broiled shrimp swimming in an “over-the-top” house-made creamy, cheesy sauce that must be enjoyed with the signature Focaccia bread straight from the wood-fired oven. This along with an order of Mussels Marinara – fresh tender mussels served with a hearty and delicious spicy marinara. These two appetizers paired with a chilled glass of pinot grigio is all I need to know “life is good.”

Be safe, wash your hands – then eat, drink, live! •

Miss going out for dinner with friends and family? We certainly do – we are such social beings and it has been challenging to not have those interactions like we used to. We took for granted such personal celebrations like birthdays or graduations, which are now enjoyed by honking car parades or virtual happy hours and dinner parties.

But, one thing is certain: WE WILL continue to celebrate and enjoy each other’s company, it will be just a bit slower these days, especially for neighbors who are driving golf carts cruising the neighborhood waving. We have even done a drive-by visiting friends and family from street side. We are truly blessed!

Each participant is definitely a winner in his or her own right, gaudy trophies for the two races and the style award will be awarded at the social that follows the regatta.

If you want to participate or get more info, or if you want to lend or borrow a canoe or kayak, please contact the King William Yacht Club at kwadmin@ourkwa.org so you can be added to the notice list. Additional event information will be provided later directly to folks who respond to join the King William Yacht Club notice list. Now is the time to contact the Commodore and to dust off your paddles so you can participate in our July 4th fun. •
This article is inspired by past issues of the King William Association newsletter beginning in November 1967. Its purpose is to inform newer neighbors and remind those who have been here a while of how the King William area has evolved through the years.

References and comments are from those issues containing “news” items that seem, to this writer, to show the development of the King William neighborhood or merely to show how some things are unique to an historic district. The series started with the first newsletter published in November 1967. Articles will continue, but not in every issue of the newsletter.

• March 1978 - On Easter Sunday, March 26, at four in the afternoon, the first annual Easter Egg Hunt was held in King William Park. Josie Fauerso and Carolene Zehner were hosts. All members of the King William Association and their families and friends were invited. In years past, a home tour was part of the activities of the King William Fair held during Fiesta. On April 22, 1978, ten homes were on tour to commemorate the tenth anniversary of the King William Association.

• May 1978 - On May 6, the San Antonio Symphony presented a concert in King William Park, in conjunction with the annual picnic for King William Fair workers.

• June 1978 - The park at Pancoast St. and what is now Cesar E. Chavez Blvd., was completed except for sidewalks.

• October 1978 - Longtime Guenther Street neighbors, Paulette and “Bat” Batterson, passed along this restoration tip they discovered in restoring their home. They found that to keep wood porch decks from being slippery when wet, add 2½ pounds of 50 or 60 mesh washed sand per gallon of porch paint.

• November 1978 - An early-American pioneer formula to get squirrels out of your attic was to sprinkle borax around and they will leave. It is non-flammable, clean, and inexpensive.
