YUKON TERRITORY HAS NO SPECIFIC LAWS REGARDING WORKING ALONE, BUT IT DOES REQUIRE SUPERVISORS TO MAKE SURE THEIR EMPLOYEES ARE SAFE. SAFETYLINE PROVIDES A SYSTEM DESIGNED TO HELP ORGANIZATIONS MEET REGULATIONS.

Regulations

In Yukon the law doesn't discuss working alone as a distinct issue. However, under Federal Law all employers, managers, and supervisors must do "everything that is reasonable under the circumstances" (Occupational Health & Safety Act, Sec. 25) to ensure that their workers have a healthy and safe workplace. Ensuring that workers working alone are safe is within the scope of the intent of the law.
