WHO WE ARE

Life can be difficult for those who are struggling with mental health, substance use, trauma, violence or other challenges that affect their emotional well-being. In times of crisis, it is not unusual to feel overwhelmed and alone. Whether it is you or someone you are concerned about, we are here 24 hours a day, 7 days a week to help during these difficult times.

Our Mobile Crisis Team works closely with adults and children who are experiencing a crisis or simply need to talk. We are community based and able to travel to the person in need. This may be a home, school, hospital or a mutually agreed upon location. We can talk with you by phone or chat via the computer. Our goal is to listen, identify how to resolve the crisis and help you regain a sense of control.

If you or someone you know is experiencing a crisis or needs to talk, FrontLine Service Mobile Crisis Team can help.

Child Response Team

We operate a specialized Child Mobile Crisis Team to work with children, adolescents and their families who are experiencing an emotional or behavioral health crisis. These strength-based, family-focused services are provided in homes, schools, emergency rooms and other community settings by licensed clinicians.

Crisis Stabilization Unit

FrontLine’s Crisis Stabilization Unit is available 24/7 for adults struggling with a current mental health crisis. An alternative to hospitalization, the Crisis Unit provides short-term, community-based (psychiatric) services for those who can benefit from increased support but do not require inpatient care. Crisis stabilization services are also available for individuals under the age of 18 at alternative sites.
