HOW CAN IDHR HELP ME?

The Institute Discrimination & Harassment Response Office (IDHR) can help faculty, staff, students, and postdocs who are experiencing any form of discrimination or discriminatory harassment on the basis of:

- race
- gender
- age
- ancestry
- color
- identity
- genetic
- national or
- sex
- pregnancy
- information
- ethnic origin
- sexual
- religion
- veteran
- orientation
- disability
- status

Please note that discrimination or discriminatory harassment on the basis of sex includes sexual assault, sexual harassment, intimate partner violence, and stalking. Many of the resources listed on the left can also support you if you've experienced discrimination other than sexual misconduct.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What happens when I submit an incident report to IDHR? What is "serious enough" to share?

When you submit an incident report to IDHR, "reporting" simply means letting the IDHR Office know something has occurred. An IDHR staff member will contact you to schedule a time to meet or talk. IDHR can provide information on supportive measures, resources, and options to resolve and address the impact of what you experienced.

Please note that reaching out or reporting to IDHR does not automatically trigger an investigation process.

If it's serious to you, it's serious to us. The earlier we're notified, the more we can do to address the situation.

I don't want to file a formal complaint, so why should I go to IDHR?

Our office does much more than just conduct formal complaint investigations. We have a variety of other ways to address concerns about discrimination at MIT, including:

1. ADAPTABLE RESOLUTION: We can address concerns through adaptable resolution processes. These are a range of options from shuttle mediation to facilitated dialogue, that seek to find mutually agreeable solutions to address impact.

2. SUPPORTIVE MEASURES: We can assist in securing workplace, housing, or academic modifications, obtaining no-contact orders, talking to someone about their behavior and its effect on you, and more.

3. EDUCATION AND TRAINING: The IDHR Education Team can provide interactive training and educational opportunities, including in-person as well as online trainings.
