Register now for Exhibitor Booths at the Annual Conference

A limited number of exhibitor booths remain for this year’s Annual Conference. Booth space is assigned on a first-come, first-serve basis.

You don’t want to miss this year’s event! Our keynote speaker is University of Kansas Basketball Coach Bill Self. We have also lined up a great slate of panelists and speakers to touch on many pertinent topics to our members.

KCAHE will also be offering a raffle to all registrants the day of the event. Raffle winners will have the opportunity to meet Bill Self and take photos with him after his presentation.

To register for an exhibitor booth or a single ticket, go to www.kcahe.org and click on events/Annual Conference 2017.

Membership Enrollment for 2017 closes October 1

Membership enrollment and renewal for 2017 will close on October 1. Anyone wishing to renew their KCAHE membership in order to take advantage of members-only benefits should go online before this deadline.
Go to www.kcahe.org to register as an attendee or exhibitor for this year’s event. Booth space is limited.
KCAHE Social Night with the Royals

There are still a limited number of tickets available for the KCAHE Social Night at the Royals on September 26 versus the Detroit Tigers.

Tickets are available to current KCAHE members at a price of $85. Members may also purchase 1 additional ticket for a spouse or guest.

Your ticket price includes a seat on the Pepsi Porch with unlimited food and soda/water. In addition to the game, you will be able to attend a pre-game tailgate beginning at 4pm with drinks and appetizers.

Go to www.kcahe.org and click on events/2017 calendar to purchase your ticket.

Infection Control University

KCAHE is offering an infection control training through Infection Control University on October 4 prior to the Annual Conference.

The topic of the training is ICRA Fundamentals - Why HAI Reduction Requires a Team.

Current KCAHE members are eligible to attend this training at no cost. Non-members can attend for a cost of $60 per person. Attendees will receive 6.25 contact hours and .625 CEUs with this training.

Log on to www.kcahe.org. Click on events/2017 calendar to register.

Energy to Care Update

KCAHE has been involved with ASHE's Energy to Care Program for the past few years. Since becoming involved with the Energy to Care Program, 18 local hospitals and medical office buildings have signed up with Energy Star Portfolio Manager and ASHE Energy to Care Program. One of ASHE’s main goal is to reduce BTU’s, not FTE’s. By monitoring and benchmarking the building energy usage, the Facility Manager will be able to see how well they are managing their energy usage compared to other hospitals and medical office buildings.

If you have questions concerning monitoring and benchmarking your building through Energy Star and would like some help, please contact any of the KCAHE Board representatives. KCAHE membership includes many vendor representatives that specialize in monitoring and benchmarking buildings. Most vendor members will not charge the facility manager to help them set up the Energy Star Portfolio Account.

KCAHE’s Energy to Care liaison is Stacy Seibert. If you have any questions about the program, please contact Stacy at sseibert@saint-lukes.org
