What is SNAP?

Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program

Other common/previous names include:

- Food Stamps
- Electronic Benefit Transfer (EBT)
- Nutrition assistance
- Food assistance

SNAP is the largest federal nutrition assistance program

- Benefits themselves are completely federally funded BUT state administered

  - Meaning states often share in the cost of administering the program i.e. paying staff
  - State’s have autonomy over some eligibility requirements such as asset tests
How does SNAP help?

SNAP provides money monthly on an Electronic Benefits Transfer (EBT) card – like a debit card – that can only be used to purchase groceries.

Currently, nearly 1.5 million Ohioans use SNAP to help them buy enough healthy food to meet their household’s needs.
The Governor’s budget contained no programmatic changes to SNAP, in fact, the only real mention of SNAP in his budget was to ensure the phrases SNAP and food stamps were synonymous.
SNAP in House-Passed Budget

• Through a bipartisan effort, the House was able to secure the inclusion of the Elderly and Disabled Simplified Application Project (EDSAP) waiver

• This is a waiver option offered by USDA to reduce agency workloads while simplifying the SNAP enrollment and retention process for elderly and disabled households facing food insecurity

• Currently in practice in South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, Massachusetts and more
Why is EDSAP important?

Ohio is an aging state.

• This population represents over 1/3 of Ohio’s SNAP caseload
• This population has historically struggled with food insecurity and churn – being disenrolled from SNAP for administrative reasons

This could:

• Extend the certification period to 36 months for elderly or disabled households with no earned income
• Waive the interim reporting requirement
• Waive the recertification interview
SNAP in Senate Passed Budget: SB17

• Senate Bill 17 was introduced in early January 2021 – amid a pandemic and recession

• It included:
  • Elimination of Broad-Based Categorical Eligibility
  • Reinstatement of asset tests & limits
  • SNAP EBT Photo ID requirement
  • Mandatory child support cooperation enforcement
  • Change reporting

• It also included concerning Medicaid & Unemployment Compensation provisions
SNAP in Senate Passed Budget: SB17

• Despite having 3 proponents and 60+ opponents from advocates and organizations, most of the bill was rolled into the budget after all public testimony was finished.

• Following this, advocates and organizations began an intense 11th hour campaign including letters, media and direct outreach to members to get the provisions out in conference committee.
Final Budget: What’s In, What’s Out?

EDSAP: remained in!
Public Assistance Benefits Accountability Task Force: In.

SB 17 provisions taken OUT!
Child care is essential

Will Petrik, Budget Researcher
Policy Matters Ohio is a nonprofit policy research institute that creates a more vibrant, equitable, sustainable and inclusive Ohio through research, strategic communications, coalition building and policy advocacy.
Why Child Care is Essential

• High-quality child care and early learning opportunities help prepare children for the future.

• All parents deserve to go to work knowing their kids have a safe, nurturing place to go.

• Child care is the workforce behind the workforce.
Before COVID-19, the child care system was fragile and unstable

What will the recently passed state budget mean for children, families, and child care providers?

- Rate increases for child care providers: additional federal funds will increase reimbursement rates for child care providers.

- Access and affordability: roughly 6,000 children across Ohio whose families are currently ineligible for support will be able to afford child care.

- Access and affordability: an estimated 100 children with special needs will be served through publicly funded child care in SFY 2022 and 220 - 250 children in SFY 2023.
What will the recently passed state budget mean for children, families, and child care providers?

• Requires ODJFS to use federal stimulus dollars (through the American Rescue Plan Act and the Consolidated Appropriations Act) to stabilize and sustain the child care system, retain and develop the child care workforce, and make child care more accessible and affordable.

• Maintains the requirement for Publicly Funded Child Care (PFCC) providers to be one-star rated. Removes the requirement for PFCC providers to be 3-star rated by 2025.

• The work continues. The budget creates a legislative study committee to evaluate publicly funded child care and the Step Up To Quality system. The final report is due December 31, 2021.
Thank you.
