WISE & Healthy Aging Certified as a 'Great Place to Work'

3-Peat! National Designation

WISE & Healthy Aging has earned three consecutive national certifications – “a 3-peat” – as a “Great Place to Work”. The designation is based on confidential workplace satisfaction surveys of an organization’s staff and is awarded to high performing company cultures who have built a high level of trust among their employees.

“I am very proud that the confidential feedback from our staff resulted in our earning 'A Great Place to Work' distinction,” said Grace Cheng Braun, president and CEO. “The results reflect the way our employees feel about working at WISE & Healthy Aging and how meaningful it is for them to be serving seniors.”

Miles McNeeley Weighs In On Best Approaches for Elder Abuse Prevention

With at least 10% of adults aged 65 and older experiencing some form of elder abuse in a given year, the number is only expected to grow as the baby boom generation grays and life expectancy increases.

World Elder Abuse Awareness Day (WEAAD) calls attention to that fact, and Miles McNeeley, LCSW, Director of Elder Abuse Prevention at WISE & Healthy Aging, laid out some steps to be taken to help address this issue at the Bet Tzedek's 3rd Annual World Elder Abuse Awareness Day event that occurred on June 15.

Among the interventions Miles discussed, was the Holistic Elder Abuse Response Team (HEART), which was created by Molly Davies, Executive Vice President of WISE & Healthy Aging to provide case management, therapy, legal system advocacy, and emergency funds to survivors of elder abuse in the community and facility settings.

For more information about the HEART program at WISE & Healthy Aging, please contact HEART at (310) 394-9871, ext. 350 or email HEART@wiseandhealthyaging.org.
