

488. Wang SJ, Brady GS, Dunleer JS. Serological responses

525. Schmidt R, Kahatzki J, Hartung S, Ackermann R. Erythema chronicum migrans disease in the Federal Repub-

526. Schacht-Groß V, Martin R, Schmidt-Wolf I. Antibody riter determination against Borrelia burgdorferi in blood donors

527. Rath PM, Ibershoff B, Mohanahaupt A, et al. Seroprevalence of Lyme borreliosis in forestry workers from Branden-epidemiology of Lyme borreliosis with reference to clustered incidence of illnesses in the suburbs of a North heterogeneity on Lyme disease serology in Europe: comparison of enzyme-linked immunosorbent assays using different species of Borrelia burgdorferi sensu lato. J Clin

530. Christen HJ, Elancefeld F. Lyme borreliosis in childhood and pregnancy. In Weber K, Burgdorfer W (eds). Aspects of Lyme borreliosis. Berlin, Springer-Verlag, 1993, pp 228–239.

531. Bussen S, Steck T. Manifestation of Lyme arthritis in the paeripheral period. Z Geburtshilfe Perinatol 198(4):150–

532. Cimmino MA, Fumarola D, Sambri V, Accardo S. The epidemiology of Lyme borreliosis in Italy. Microbiologi-

Alpine environment antibodes to hantaviruses, leptospi-ria, rickettsiae, and Borrelia burgdorferi in defined Italborreliosis—a review of the late stages and treatment of 535. Djordjevic B, Djordjevic D, Djordjevic V, et al. Epidemiology of Lyme borreliosis. Glas Srp Akad Nauka [Med]

after a tick bite in a pregnant woman. Glas Srp Akad 172, 1993.

538. Hamlet N, Nathwani D, Ho-Yen DO, Walker E. Borrelia burgdorferi infections in U.K. workers at risk of tick bites.

539. Ho-Yen D, Bennett AJ, Chisholm S, Deacon AG. Lyme

540. Muhlemann MF, Wright DJM. Emerging pattern of Lyme disease in the United Kingdom and Irish Republic.

541. Guly EC, Batenan DE, Marty CN, et al. Lyme disease:
prevalence and clinical importance of Borrelia burgdorferi

542. Morgan-Capner P, Cutler SJ, Wright DJM. Borrelia bur-gdorferi infections in U.K. workers at risk of tick bites.

543. Rees DH, Axford JS. Evidence for Lyme disease in urban park workers: a potential new health hazard for city

544. Mawby VT, Lovett AA. The public health risks of Lyme disease in Breckland, U.K.: an investigation of environ-

545. O’Connell S. Lyme disease in the United Kingdom. BMJ

546. Ananjeva LP, Skripnichenko VA, Barskova VG, Steere AC.
Clinical serologic features of Lyme borreliosis in Russia.

547. Jenum PA, Mehl R, Hasseltvedt V, Bjark P. Lyme borre-

548. Grygier B, Cutler SJ, Wright DJM. Lyme disease in Ire-

549. Oto J, Martinez de Arista V, Casas J, et al. Epidemiologiology and prevalence of seropositivity to *Borrelia burg-

Frequency of the clinical manifestations of Lyme bor-79, 1996.

551. Saz JV, Merino FJ, Beltran M. Current status of Lyme disease in Spain: clinical and epidemiological aspects. Rev

552. Chatzianagnostou S, Papandreou-Rakitzis P, Malamou-Ladas H, Antoniou P. Determination of antibody titres for Borrelia burgdorferi in the serum of gypsies living in

553. Santino I, Dastoli F, Lavorino C, et al. Determination of antibodies to Borrelia burgdorferi in the sera of patients living in Calabria, southern Italy. Panminerva Med

554. Zhang Z. Geographic distribution of Lyme disease in

555. Park KH, Chang WH, Schwan TG. Identification and characterization of Lyme disease spirochetes, Borrelia burgdorferi sensu lato, isolated in Korea. J Clin Microbiol

556. Maradiaga-Cecena MA, Llausas-Vargas A, Baguera-Herredia J, et al. Eritema cronico migratorio asociado a ar-

557. Guzman L, Neira O. Lyme disease in Chile. J Rheumatol

Lyme disease in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. Int J Dermatol

559. Vasquez L, Couto C, Mato OL. Lyme disease: first case

560. Winward KE, Smith JL. Ocular disease in Caribbean patients with serologic evidence of Lyme borreliosis. J

561. Patial RK, Kashyap S, Bansal SK, Sood A. Lyme disease

reliosis also occur in tropical and subtropical areas?

case of Lyme disease contracted in Mozambique. Bull

564. Collares-Pereira M, Gomoz AC, Prassad M, et al. Preliminary survey of leptospirosis and Lyme disease amongst favelas patients attending community hospital ambulatory care in Maputo, Mozambique. Cent Afr J

565. Mhulu FS, Mate R. Serological evidence of Lyme bor-reliosis in Africa: results from studies in Dar es Salaam,

566. Abrahm Z, Feuerman EJ, Rozenbaum M, Gluck Z.

607. Sanek G, Klein J, Bitner R, Glogar D. Borrelia burgdor-

736. Lightfoot RW Jr, Lutz BJ, Rahn DW, et al. Empiric parental antibiotic treatment of patients with fibromyalgia and fatigue and a positive serologic result for Lyme