Solutions for a small planet

How to clone your best sales person.

The most successful reps have all the answers at their fingertips, for better deal-making and customer relations. With IBM's help, you can use the Web to empower all your sales people.

A rep with a notebook computer can be linked via Internet to the warehouse, factory, billing and shipping departments. Or other vendors. So when they make a promise to a customer, it's based on up-to-the-minute data.

IBM has already done it for 8,000 travel agents in the Italian Crizzanti group. We can do it for you.

Where Rubber Duck meets Moby Dick.

There is still a place on earth where the locals wave fondly to tourists.

Admittedly, with their tails. Here in Kaikoura, New Zealand, the planet's greatest mammal deigns to rub shoulders with more humble mammals like you and me.

After your breathtakingly insane boat chase, bouncing and skating across the bottle-green brine, you catch your subject taking a ten minute breather. You eavesdrop on a sighting sperm whale, forty tonnes of noble blubber resting there beside you.

Only Jonah came any closer and surely regretted not having film in his camera.

Then with remarkable grace the mighty form arches slowly, photographically, and plunges a kilometre or more straight down.

What's left is a whale footprint; a perfect circle of perfectly calm water amid the normal slap and slosh of the ocean's surface.

This alone leaves most people unblinkingly speechless.

For those of us with Beauty in our souls, it is devastatingly beautiful.

Yet this seemingly remote rendezvous with Nature is as close as a leisurely hour-and-a-half drive from Christchurch.

There is so much that's special about New Zealand. Including the deals your travel agent can now offer. Consider, for example, a twin-share 7-day holiday with return airfare, accommodation and car hire from around $850 per person from Sydney, Melbourne or Brisbane. ($1,050 from Adelaide. $1,300 from Perth.)

So there's no excuse for letting this one get away. Just go.

Hey, life's an adventure.

And my life could do with some. Rush my free Holiday Planner. Send to New Zealand Tourism Board, GPO Box 614, Sydney NSW 2001, or telephone (02) 231 1322.

▶ MICHELIN achieved 1st or 2nd place at Le Mans 6 times in all. And 100% of those victories were on Michelin tires.

When Porsche achieved 1st and second place at Le Mans (2015), it was a phenomenal effort for the winner of LMP1. Winning Le Mans requires that the team had stuck with their Michelin challenge of the track, coming up with tires that, despite being extremely wet, handle 3 tons of Le Mans before a change. It all boils down to understanding and understanding it is possible for you at Le Mans 2015 for the winner.

AMBIER PAVING CAMBARI
The team needs to see nothing is better at Porsche (porsche.com) compared with 10 years ago in the World Endurance Championship (porsche.com). HOW DOES THE WORLD'S FASTEST CAR GO SHOPPING FOR TYRES?

When Concorde reached 400 km/h on the runway, it would take off. So at 431 km/h, how on earth do you keep a Bugatti 16.4 Veyron Super Sport on the road? With just two hands to control the power of 1,200 horses at the end of your steering column, you want to know those wheels will go precisely where you want them to go. Therein lies the beauty of this remarkable super car, which can be yours for a cool 1.95 million euros. In the most extreme driving conditions imaginable - at blindingly fast speed - the Bugatti 16.4 Veyron Super Sport holds the road with outstanding tenacity, and offers its fortunate driver astonishing precision.

« The ultimate road handling torture test »

ADVERTORIAL

THE ART OF ACCELERATION.

« Precision steering, sportiness and safety »

Picture yourself on a dream test drive. You, the latest BMW M5, and several hundred kilometers of Europe's most photogenic roads. Then beyond the ultimate challenge: a spin on the famed Nürburgring circuit. Since its launch, the BMW M5 has been widely praised as the best performing super saloon around. You're about to experience why.

Your starting line is somewhere in the chic streets of Paris - the car's designers would agree. Your departure doesn't go unnoticed, as the throaty rumble of 560 horses comes to life. In the city maze, the BMW M5 is a creature of stealth. One moment there, the next - gone. Admiring glances are left slightly frustrated by this high performance car's most outstanding feature: acceleration. A breathtaking 100 km/h in 4.3 seconds delivered by its V8 M TwinPower Turbo engine. As you escape the capital's gravitational pull, you take pleasure in how elegantly and precisely the M5 negotiates stop-start traffic.

PUTTING BEAUTY TO THE TEST

The gorgeous styling of BMW's latest M5 lives up to its ultraperformant heritage. What drives this beauty to accelerate heart-beats in a soul of inspired engineering. Journeying across France is an ideal way to soak up the constant of the cockpit as you put it through its paces. But even in Germany, the autobahn is your real opportunity to feel that legendary acceleration in action. As the intensifying G-force presses you deep into your seat, it's reassuring to discover how visible and precise the M5's steering is. Now take the joys of touring to a surprising conclusion. Let curiosity lure you to the epic Nürburgring motorsport complex in Eifelstein. Here on the Hahnenkamm, or Northern Loop, you can sample the very same handle that once used to test the M5, notably during development of its tires. (How much of its potential 300km/h will you achieve?)

AN INSPIRED COMBINATION

Bringing together design and engineering to create something as special as the M5 was no mean feat. It required an inspired coming together of minds. For the tire alone, BMW wanted to close collaboration with Michelin a project that lasted 2 years. Together, technicians from both companies focused on improving the driving experience, having their work on a tire that has proven itself both on the racetrack and on the road. In the process, they produced nearly 1,000 prototype tires and 1,000 pre-series tires, testing them on the Nürburgring circuit in Germany and the Michelin Lado test track in France. The results are there for anyone to experience and, now your dream test drive into reality.

LICENSED TO THRILL

For its latest M5, BMW chose to fit the MICHELIN Pilot Super Sport tires. With its all-weather combination of Tread Compound and Variable Contact Patch 2.0, it delivers the exciting drive BMW M was looking for: ensuring precision steering, sportiness and safety.

Hard work has never been so

WHEN YOU BELIEVE IN YOUR OWN STANDARDS, YOU REACH FOR THE BEST.

At the age of eight, she started ballet lessons near her home in Benfica, in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. By the age of 13, Ingrid Silva's love of ballet was becoming so serious she wanted to solely focus on dance.

For her loving family, dance lessons were a luxury they simply could not afford. Fortunately Ingrid was able to start dancing with a programme that provides classical ballet training to kids from the favela.

Her journey from favela to first position at New York's renowned Dance Theater of Harlem has been one based on tenacity, hard work, and a quiet confidence, working in sync with herself.

TOUGH CHOICES, RIGHT REASONS

Ingrid is still thankful that her mother "let her go" to pursue her path. Landing in New York at the age of 18, Ingrid knew she was there for just one thing: Dancing.

She didn't speak English, had few friends and had nowhere to live. "I was scared, still figuring out life." Dancing saved her: "It's like air: I breathe, I dance."
