Transnational
Black Feminist Online Series

Hosted by K. Melchor Quick Hall,
Author of Naming a Transnational Black Feminist Framework: Writing in Darkness

A COVID-19 Virtual Book Tour Re-Alignment
Supporting Black Feminist Artist and Activist Living Legacies

Co-hosted and live-tweeted by Kimberly Juanita Brown, Founder of The Dark Room: Race and Visual Culture Faculty Seminar

Monthly Featured Guests:

- June 27: Maori Holmes, BlackStar Film Festival
  https://www.blackstarfest.org/
- July 18: Tish Jones, TruArtSpeaks
  https://www.truartspeaks.org/
- August 8: Kandace Montgomery, Black Visions Collective
  https://www.blackvisionsmn.org/
- September 26: Nedelka Prescod
  http://nedelkaprescod.com/
- October 10: Dawn Crandell, brASS Burlesque
  http://www.brassburlesque.com/
- November 14: Leah Penniman, Soul Fire Farm http://www.soulfirefarm.org/
- December 5: Michelle Chatman, Black Mindfulness Summit
  https://blackmindfullnesssummit.com/
- January 16, 2021: Dell Hamilton
  https://delimhamilton.com
- February 6, 2021: Yvette Modestin, Encuentro Diaspora Afro
  https://www.facebook.com/Encuentro-Diaspora-Afro-158717790807549/
- March 20, 2021: Nancy Musinguzi
  https://www.nmusinguzi.com/https://willtoadorn.si.edu/
- May 8, 2021: Ash-Lee Woodard Henderson, Highlander Research and Education Center
  https://www.highlandercenter.org/

At the beginning of 2020, K. Melchor Quick Hall's first book, Naming a Transnational Black Feminist Framework: Writing in Darkness, was released under Routledge's "Worlding Beyond the West" international relations series. In May 2020, after more than a month at home with cancelled events, Hall decided to take her book tour online and off campus. In this 12-month online series, she invites Black feminist artists and activists to engage her in a conversation about the transnational Black feminist (TBF) principles she outlines in the book—intersectionality, scholar-activism, solidarity, attention to borders/boundaries, and radically transparent positionality. For $200, you can subscribe to the series of Saturday conversations, held at 1pm Eastern. If you subscribe in the first six months, you will also receive an autographed copy of Naming a Transnational Black Feminist Framework. You can also sign up to participate in individual talks for $20. Visit www.writingindarkness.org to subscribe to the series, sign up for a specific talk, or purchase books.