New exhibitions breathe life into Belgium's art scene, while dance, music and film also reflect an international flavour

In an age where Instagram and AI are threatening to forever change our perception of images, it's inspiring to note that photography is the subject of some of the most popular art exhibitions in Brussels. There's an abundance of riches at PhotoBrussels Festival, a month of shows, talks and workshops. A highlight of the festival is Mirror of Self at Hangar, an exploration of the meaning of self-portraits in the age of the selfie. Also check out the Graciela Iturbide retrospective at Fondation A Stichting, which provides wonderful insights into the matriarchal Juchitan region, the Oaxaca botanical garden and more. 26 January to 26 February, across Brussels
