2023 Partnership Deck

Creating a world where all women of color own their work and worth
Hello,

We're excited by your interest in joining us on our journey in creating inclusive innovation and entrepreneurship opportunities for Black and Latina women. Our mission moves the entrepreneurial ecosystem forward, to increase funding, access, and opportunities for women of color through our work and advocacy. We've laid the groundwork for generations to speak in profound ways about the realities, experiences, and disparities of entrepreneurship while providing actionable strategies for change.

Over the past decade, our partners have become an integral component to our success. The generous donations from corporations, foundations and individuals allow us to provide education, technical assistance, mentorship, and access to Latina and Black women entrepreneurs. This support not only aides founders in scaling their business, but also removes systemic barriers that impede these women-led enterprises from optimal growth. Through our multi-prong approach, we've developed groundbreaking research reports, like ProjectDiane, and have developed programs driven by these insights.

We offer founders five programs (START, BIG, BREAKTHROUGH, DoYou Fellowship and The New C-Suite) that support them at every stage of their entrepreneurial journey; from ideation to seven and eight-figure companies. In service of our mission to allow founders to own their work and their worth, we’ve developed The New C-Suite in partnership with Cosmopolitan; the largest women's global media brand. Now in it's second year, The New C-Suite is a high-profile, nationally recognized list that celebrates and honors a new wave of executive leadership amongst women of color founders who are disrupting their industries. We also look to drive thought leadership through founder and investor focused events such as our undivided We Rise Summit, FundHER Forum and InvestHER Power series in collaboration with the Nasdaq Foundation.

We understand the need to be selective when deciding how to partner with organizations to increase your impact. digitalundivided is a trusted source for founders and funders because we have a proven record of leading with integrity, increasing economic equity through development of preeminent Black and Latina leaders in business, and backing our advocacy with data-proven strategies. We appreciate your consideration of a partnership to improve social impact and economic mobility.

Onward and upward,

Brittany S. Hale
Interim CEO & Chief Operating Officer
Founded in 2012, digitalundivided is the leading non-profit leveraging our data, programs, and advocacy to catalyze economic growth for Latina and Black women entrepreneurs and innovators. Our goal is to create a greater world where all women of color own their work and worth. Our mission moves the entrepreneurial ecosystem forward, to increase funding, access, and opportunities for women of color in business and innovation.

RESEARCH

Our authoritative research led by women of color provide qualitative and quantitative insights into the state of Latina and Black women founders in the U.S. and their unique challenges.

PROGRAMS

digitalundivided leads five research-driven programs with best-in-class resources, advisory, and investment to educate and support Latina and Black women founders at every stage of their entrepreneurial journey.

THOUGHT LEADERSHIP

digitalundivided leads the global culture shift toward inclusive innovation through powerful, impactful, and unmatched thinking on topics ranging from accessing untapped reservoirs of innovation to creating a women-centered workplace. Our staff leads over two hundred workshops, keynotes, and panel presentations each year.

COMMUNITY

Our community is comprised of program alumni, high-profile executive mentors, Do You Fund recipients, aspiring entrepreneurs, and ally organizations and founders. We share insights, information, and build communities with the goal of closing the gaps Latina and Black women founders face.

ABOUT Us

Founded in 2012, digitalundivided is the leading non-profit leveraging our data, programs, and advocacy to catalyze economic growth for Latina and Black women entrepreneurs and innovators. Our goal is to create a greater world where all women of color own their work and worth. Our mission moves the entrepreneurial ecosystem forward, to increase funding, access, and opportunities for women of color in business and innovation.
For over a decade, digitalundivided has been serving Latina and Black women founders. As we have evolved throughout the years in our programming and services, our ability to reach a greater amount of women throughout the US and Puerto Rico has evolved as well. Our profile of founders is an indication of our ability and commitment to serve WOC at any stage of their entrepreneurial journey!
At digitalundivided, our Founders and the community we serve are the heart of the organization. We seek to build diverse and innovative ecosystems that focus on collaboration, opportunities, growth and success! Whether our founders are idea-stage, pre-revenue, growth-stage or beyond, we aim to provide them with a rich, engaging and impactful experience that will help them own their work and their worth!

Founders

"I can't say enough about how valuable this experience has been for me - from the mentorship, the inspiration, the connections, and the tools. Stellar and memorable."
- Anya Booker (START '21)

"I am so grateful for this opportunity that leaves me with a greater sense of power and control over the future of my business...The connections and knowledge I gained during this program are priceless and are the silver lining I needed at the exact time I needed it..."
- Daniela Capistrano (BREAKTHROUGH NOLA '22)

"When I started this program, I knew I had good ideas and a lot of heart, but I wasn't sure I fit the entrepreneur archetype. Now, I absolutely know that I can be successful thanks to this program."
- Kesha Rogers (BIG '21)

"Being in the Do You program not only helped me in certain areas of my business, as it pertains to marketing, legalities, and business structure, but it has also opened doors for my brand including being featured on the Pine-Sol Store and being accepted into the Shopify for Startups program."
- Monisha Edwards (DYF '21-22)

"It is so rewarding to be recognized by anyone for the endless work you do, but to be featured in one of the top magazines and to be a voice alongside digitalundivided through the summit was a ‘pinch me’ moment."
- Kristina Jones (C-SUITE '21)
As digitalundivided leads the global culture shift towards inclusive innovation, we are using our social pages to share the stories of our founders and those in the ecosystem. With over 60K+ people (and growing) within our community, we’re committed to using all platforms to bring awareness and build capacity for Latina and Black Women entrepreneurs who are catalyzing economic growth through innovation.
Because of the depth of digitalundivided's thought leadership, we have been featured in top tier publications including Forbes, Fortune, Fast Company, Marie Claire, and more! Daily, digitalundivided is shifting the public perception of Latina and Black women as founders, CEOs, leaders and innovators and giving a voice to underrepresented founders!

BLACK ENTERPRISE

DIITALUNDIVIDED Partnering with JPMORGAN CHASE Offering $5,000 GRANTS TO HELP BLACK AND LATINX WOMEN ENTREPRENEURS

CNN

Black women don't get much startup funding. These founders are trying to change that.
LET THIS INSPIRE US:

Our dynamic world requires dynamic solutions, and women of color entrepreneurs continue to lead by developing innovative solutions to everyday challenges while navigating persistent barriers such as bias, discrimination, underfunding and undervaluation.

DANIELLE M. JACKSON
SENIOR DIRECTOR OF RESEARCH, EVALUATION, AND DATA
DIGITALUNDIVIDED
digitalundivided was the first to debut authoritative research on the state of Latina and Black women founders with the ProjectDiane Report. The legacy of ProjectDiane inspires our expanded research efforts, conducted by women of color and focused on women of color in entrepreneurship and the businesses they lead.
Our programs equip Latina and Black women to build sustainable and scalable businesses. At the forefront of our curriculum is a recognition and understanding of the unique challenges our founders face. We aim to dismantle with knowledge, resources, mentorship, and access the barriers to entry to entrepreneurship and fundraising.

NATALIA MILLER
DIRECTOR OF EDUCATIONAL SUCCESS & CURRICULUM
DIGITALUNDIVIDED
Our Programs

digitalundivided supports women of color entrepreneurs at every stage of their entrepreneurial journey: from early to growth life cycle.

While digitalundivided cannot change the entire system outright, we can provide greater access to investors, prepare founders to be investment ready and support them in growing their companies. Through a hybrid delivery model in targeted geographies/sectors and increased capacity, we aim equip more through effective programming, mentorship, private coaching and support. This mix of education, access, and capacity-building positions our founders to grow and lead!
START Program

ABOUT

START, our flagship pre-revenue program, is a 3-week, 100% virtual program that uses Lean Startup methodology to develop the Business Model Canvas to transform an idea into a sustainable business. This is digitalundivided's longest running program with hundreds of women having graduated and now they are lifetime members of the alumni network. All START participants report confidence in knowing the next steps for their business and recommend the program to another founder.

BIG Pre-Accelerator Program

ABOUT
BIG’s pre-accelerator virtual program is a fast-paced, twelve-week program for high-growth, pre-revenue startups led by Latina and Black women entrepreneurs focused on helping those founders find founder-market fit and build out an MVP. The program is one of the most competitive incubator programs in the nation with <10% of applicants accepted.

BIG culminates with a founder showcase called The BIG Bang Founder Showcase, that brings together a robust network of investors, stakeholders, facilitators, and partners to hear the founder’s pitches and further connect with the market-ready founders.

The Do You Fellowship Program is a one-year program that was created as a direct response to our organization's ProjectDiane 2020 research, which found only 93 Black women and 90 Latinas had raised over $1MM in venture funding. The program aims to help entrepreneurs reach the $1MM mark in revenue or funding.

Seven months into the Do You Fellowship program we've seen founders' revenue increased by 105% (as a cohort). The average annual revenues for Black-women-owned businesses are $24,000 and $50,900 for Latina-owned businesses.

digitalundivided events provide us the opportunity to support Latina and Black founders by amplifying and applauding their work. Our goal is to create a memorable experience where every detail sets the tone for celebrating each individual Founder's success!

JAY JARRETT
EVENTS AND SPECIAL PROJECTS MANAGER
DIGITALUNDIVIDED
As digitalundivided looks to elevate women of color to greater heights, we understand there’s a need to identify challenges within the ecosystem and present opportunities to find solutions. Our events bring together investors, founders and other thought leaders so we can have raw, transparent, and enriching conversation that will increase awareness of critical gaps, introduce new allies within the ecosystem, and catalyze the necessary momentum to uplift Latina and Black women founders!

InvestHER Power Series
In partnership with The Nasdaq Foundation, this series convenes inspiring Latina and Black women investors across the U.S. to openly explore and discuss their investing journeys, the mechanics of how valuations happen, and the science of building power portfolios.

FundHER Forum
From starting businesses to investing in the next big thing, Latina and Black women founders need a playbook for fundraising success - especially when it comes to navigating investor bias in venture. digitalundivided introduces FundHer Forum which features workshops and panels with entrepreneurship and investment experts.

Diane Dinners
digitalundivided will host intimate (6-8 people), Socratic-style dinners that will feature high-profile women venture capitalists, C-Suite Founders, etc. to discuss salient topics relevant to Black and Latina founders (i.e. valuation, funding, etc.). This invite only, exclusive event will be video recorded and shared across our various platforms.

Undivided We Rise Summit
The Undivided We Rise Summit brings together thought leaders and influential voices who are redefining global innovation and entrepreneurship to bring awareness to digitalundivided's vision of a world where all women of color own their work and worth. The summit also celebrates The New C-Suite honorees, which highlights women of color entrepreneurs breaking barriers in their respective industries and redefining what success in the C-Suite looks like.

Conversations In The Metaverse
Joins us for a guided conversation, to explore issues women of color founders face when determining the valuation of their startups and identifying recommendations to address this systemic issue. To create an innovative and interactive experience to the conversation, we will host it in an immersive metaverse experience that will enhance the meaningful and impactful dialogue.

Community Workshops
digitalundivided offers a no-cost, founder educational series featuring premiere thought leaders from various fields to engage directly with our digitalundivided community and the ecosystem. Topics related to entrepreneurship such as launch strategy, marketing, operational strategy, and other essential elements of building a vital, scalable business are at the heart of these valuable and worthwhile discussions.
OUR

Events
Meaningful partnerships are critical to generating opportunities that foster resources, relationships, education, change and impact; all of which are fundamental to ensuring the success of our founders.

Bobby J. Bryant
Head of Partnerships and Events
DigitalUndivided
The continued evolution of our programs and research is tracking the innovation and technology landscape that has advanced 5.3 years in the first 12 months of COVID-19. We too have to evolve as an organization and we require the funding to achieve this mission in the same small window of opportunity that we have for women of color to build businesses quickly enough to capitalize on the trends that ignite their entrepreneurial spirit.

Join us in celebrating the achievements of our work and the impact digitalundivided has had on thousands of women of color since 2012 - we’re ready for more and have seen an unprecedented demand for our programs, research and community over the last 15 months. Help us grow capacity 10X and make an even bigger difference by supporting us now.
